TRUMAN HOPES AID PLAN WILL REPLACE UNRRA

Expresses Belief Marshall Proposal Will Eventually Supplant Direct Largess.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 — President Truman expressed hope today that the Marshal plan for European self-help will successfully supplant direct aid of the type provided by the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

In a letter to congress his report on UNRRA's wind-up operations during the first quarter of this year, Mr. Truman said:

"Long-term plans have been inaugurated by our government under which it is hoped that devastated countries will achieve economic health through cooperation among themselves and with such long-range help as the United States is able to give under proper international arrangements."

Points Up Statement

The mention of "proper" arrangements seemed to point up a news conference statement Wednesday by Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett that this country will extend aid only on the basis of a recovery plan which is reasonable and realistic.

In another reference to the 16-nation Paris conference on the Marshall plan Lovett said demands on American aid must diminish by next year.

Mr. Truman's letter noted that while contributions of the other 47 participating countries may be used for the rest of 1947 and into 1948, funds donated by the United States contribution could not be obligated after June 30, a cut-off date fixed by congress. On that date, Mr. Truman added, UNRRA had obligated practically the entire $2,700,000,000 contributed by the United States.

Work Split Up

Various United Nations organizations have taken over UNRRA's work. In addition, the United States has provided $332,000,000 for an independent relief program, of which $34,000,000 has been committed for Italy and $3,000,000 for Austria.

Referring to the transfer to the international refugee organization July 1 of the responsibility for the care of displaced persons, Mr. Truman said:

"The United States continues its great concern for these unfortunate people, and the congress has authorized a United States contribution to the work of IRO in the hope that this organization may conclude the task of resettling or otherwise repatriating the bulk of these people who have suffered so long."

Transfers Taper Off

The report said repatriation of DP's tapered off during the first three months of 1947 because of severe winter weather, only 17,000 being transferred as against 100,000 during the last quarter of 1946.

As of March 31, 1947, over 700,000 persons were still receiving UNRRA aid, a decrease of 23,000 during the quarter. Of these, more than 600,000 were in Germany and nearly 30,000 in the Middle East.

The report said that final figures will show that UNRRA will have "accomplished its supply programs to a remarkable degree and will have utilized to the fullest possible extent the total contributions of approximately $3,685,000,000 made available by member governments."

LEGION HEARS ARMS TRAINING BACKERS SPEAK

Convention Addressed by Several of Nation's Top Supporters of Plan.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 — The 29th annual American Legion convention, although an occasion for boisterous revelry like its forerunners, also is giving national leaders an opportunity to state their support of universal military training as a means to strengthen the nation's defense.

Before delegates turned out of their first convention session last night to see the zany parade of the 40 and 8 society, Legion honor organization, they had heard pleas for peacetime conscription from President Truman; Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; James V. Forrestal, who next month becomes the nation's first secretary of defense, and others.

Another barrage of heavy firing is due during the late afternoon today, the lineup of speakers including General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff; Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and General Carl A. Spaatz, commanding general, Army Air Force.

The three-hour 40 and 8 parade down Eighth avenue was a cavalcade of 75 vehicles, 13 bands, 28 drum and bugle corps and scores of clowns.

Loaded with Beer

Equipped with bells, cannon or sirens, the vehicles included 38 flivver-size replicas of the French locomoties of World War I, some drawing box cars of the size that could carry 40 men or eight horses. Some were loaded with beer.

Far bigger but less frolicsome will be the all-day main convention parade up Fifth avenue tomorrow. MacDill field in Florida will have 18 B-29 Superfortresses make two runs over the city during the parade.

Forrestal, last speaker at the opening session yesterday, urged universal military training as necessary to complement the armed forces unification program, under which his new office was created.

"It is a matter of first importance that the military power of the United States be kept vigorous, modern and capable of swift mobilization," Forrestal said.

President Truman, in a message read to the delegates, said the nation "must have the certainty of total defense" and "only universal military training can assure that sufficient forces will be available in the critical initial phase of another emergency."

"Security Cost High"

"In a world where chaos still exists and war remains a dread possibility," the President said, "the cost of our security will remain high for some time to come. We must be so strong that no aggressor, however, rash, can persuade himself that we are open to conquest."

Dewey, who may seek the Republican presidential nomination next year, had stated similar views before the Madison Square Garden gathering.

"We don't want any fractional Americans who owe allegiance to Moscow and the Communist Internationale," Martin said. "We want no part of those who would sell us out to a foreign power and who parade under the red banner of false democracy."

Fred M. Vinson, chief justice of the United States, also received the service medal.

Baruch Adds Plea

From Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to presidents, came another plea for peacetime conscription. Explaining he could not leave Saratoga Springs, N. Y., because

Rio Conference Resolves Issue

Find Compromise To Avert Threatened Colombian Boycott of Treaty.

By The Associated Press

QUITANDINHA, BRAZIL, Aug. 29—A last-minute Colombian-Peruvian compromise at the Inter-American defense conference assured 19-nation approval today of a Western Hemisphere treaty for joint armed resistance to aggression.

The conference committee on aggression planned to meet at 10 a. m. to accept a three-nation subcommittee's outline of an American zone of maritime security stretching from pole to pole and from Greenland to the Aleutians.

The full conference was scheduled to assemble an hour later to approve the treaty article by article. The pact is to be signed next Tuesday in Rio de Janeiro in the presence of President Truman.

The Colombian delegation had threatened to filibuster against a treaty article on settlement of conflicts within the hemisphere and indicated that unless the pact was amended Colombia might refuse to ratify it.

The treaty as drawn up in committee had provided that in case of conflict between two American nations, the others would order the two to suspend hostilities and then would take steps to settle the dispute peacefully.

Colombia contended that an unqualified order for suspension of hostilities would deny to the nation that had been attacked the "legitimate right of self defense" guaranteed by the United Nations charter.

She demanded that, instead of providing for such an order, the treaty should provide that the peacemaker nations order the states in conflict to withdraw to prewar positions.

Peru strongly opposed inclusion of the Colombian provision on the grounds it would "predetermine aggression" before the consulting American republics had handed down their decision.

Last night the Colombian delegation said that the committee had interpreted the part of the treaty referring to suspension of hostilities as including withdrawal of the contending forces to prewar positions. An authoritative conference source said the Peruvians had agreed to this.

HARD WORKERS ENTER GRILL

Police Believe Several Men Needed To Load Box in Car or Truck.

Burglars entered an Oakland Heights grill early today and carried away a safe weighing 700 pounds and containing $3,933 in cash, bonds, checks and other valuables.

The Hall Bar and Grill at 809 Bellefontaine avenue, is operated by Harold Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Hall had left the place at 1:30 a. m. to go up town to eat. When they got back at 2:15 to their home, which is an apartment upstairs over the grill, they found the lock on the back door had been broken.

Police Answer Call

The police answered the call from Hall at 2:12 and found the lock broken and the safe gone and tracks around the building. No one has as yet reported hearing any noises around the place last night.

In addition to $3,072 in cash the safe contained $736 in payroll checks, $125 in government bonds and three watches. The cash register containing about $35 also had been ransacked, Hall said. Two of the watches were women's models and the other was a man's watch.

Police said the burglary came at a time when Hall had a large amount of money on hand to cash payroll checks for residents of the Oakland Heights community.

Just how the heavy safe was hauled away was not clear, police said. Tracks could be seen near the door where a car or truck had been driven up to load the safe, officers said. It could not be determined whether the vehicle was a car or truck as the area around the place is macadamized.

Safe Heavy to Handle

The fireproof safe was three feet high and two feet wide and would have required the service of several men to load, police thought.

The burglars had apparently first tried to force their way into the building through a window as three bars had been taken off a back window. The door they entered leads upstairs to the apartment, but just inside is a door leading to the grill. This door is never locked, Hall said.

Slick Thief Loots Cash Register Of $50 in Prospect

A burglary in which $50 was taken from the cash register at Dale's restaurant in Prospect some time Thursday night, was reported to the sheriff's office today.

The manner in which entry to the restaurant was made has not yet been determined.

Dale Batchelder, owner, reported he locked up for the night shortly after midnight. The front door carries a lock and the rear door in addition to a lock is barred from the inside. Restaurant windows are barred from the inside. Batchelder reported there was $60 in bills and change in the cash register when he locked up.

Mrs. Gladys Hale, cook, entered the restaurant about 7 o'clock this morning to open up. After unlocking the front door and entering she found the cash register open and empty and the rear door unbarred from the inside. The front door lock showed no evidence of having been tampered with.

Mrs. Hale notified Mr. Batchelder who in turn called the sheriff's office. Fingerprints were obtained from the cash drawer through which sale checking was made, the sheriff's office reported.

Both Mr. Batchelder and sheriff's officials theorize that the money may have been stolen by some one who had been a past customer after the restaurant was closed as the lock on the front door is not worn at all.

Judge Lady of Kenton Leads School Workshop Discussion

By ELAINE BALLINGER

At the roundup session of the Marion county schools workshop set for this morning at First Presbyterian church, findings on previous sessions and recommendations of the consultant group were to be considered. Closing meeting was to be this afternoon at the church, with Judge Joseph Lady of the Hardin county probate court, Kenton, leading a discussion on court-school relationships.

Workshop sessions were conducted Wednesday and Thursday at Hotel Harding in charge of a group of specialists in education and juvenile research. This second annual Marion county educational conference and workshop for teachers of Marion and the county, which began with a symposium Monday night on "What Can Be Done To Develop Desirable Citizenship and Personality?" was arranged by D. T. Mills, superintendent of county schools.

Summary of the general sessions Monday and Tuesday nights and of the sectional workshop meetings, in line with the general theme, was made at a meeting of the consultants last night. Considered were the notes taken in each divisional meeting by secretaries for the individual groups. Acting as secretaries were Miss Esther Williamson, Pleasant Township school faculty member; Myron Hailey, also of Pleasant school; Mrs. Genevieve Bracy, Prospect school; and Miss Clara Gillan, Marion Greenwood Street school.

Conclusions reached on the problem of developing desirable citizenship and personality in students were listed in three basic ideas from which procedure should stem. It was stated that "These ideas are equally applicable to the home and to the school from the kindergarten through the secondary school."

First Point

First point was that "the growth of wholesome personality takes place when certain basic needs of the child are met. These basic needs include acceptance, love, the opportunity to talk, and a feeling of permanent belongingness, the ultimate assurance of his relationship as an individual to his Creator."

This first point was elaborated in the groups dealing with reading, speech, and mental hygiene

First Grade Pupils Will Show Only Slight Gain Here

First grade enrollment in both Marion city and county schools will be increased only slightly over the number of last year, a check revealed today.

Due to the first of the "war babies", starting to school this year the Ohio Education association predicted the increased enrollment throughout the state to reach 128,000 pupils.

D. T. Mills, county school superintendent, reported last year's enrollment was 296 and the number enrolling to date is approximately the same from the incomplete reports available.

E. E. Holt, superintendent of Marion city schools, said the predicted enrollment last year was 509 and the actual attendance was 624 at the school opening. The predicted enrollment for this year is 604 and Mr. Holt said it would probably reach 630 at the class opening.

Definite figures were not yet available from St. Mary Parochial school officials.

SCIOTO PLANT SALE APPROVED

Sherwood Told He Has Authority To Take Over Local Ordnance Works.

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29—State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood today was authorized to accept transfer from the federal government of part of the Scioto Ordnance Works, near Marion, to be used as an adjunct to the state Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster.

The transfer will include 1,243 acres and 24 buildings. It was authorized in a formal opinion by Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins, who cited sections of state law which gave Sherwood authority to accept the transfer in the absence of legislative action.

Sherwood said he would submit the ruling to the Federal Land bank at Louisville, Ky., which is an agent for the war assets administration, to see if it meets requirements for that agency's initial proposal.

WAA earlier informed Sherwood that legislative approval or "similar authoritative evidence" was required before the transfer could be completed.

The 97th general assembly failed to pass the necessary legislation for the welfare department to accept the Marion county property. The attorney general's ruling was expected to overcome this difficulty.

The Louisville bank notified Sherwood the property could be released to the state for the nominal fee of one dollar. The WAA stated that the land must be used for a vocational training unit for juvenile delinquents for a period of 25 years.

The welfare department planned to use the land and the buildings to handle the overflow from the Lancaster institution. It may seek greater discretion in use of the property from the WAA.

TO SPLIT BILBO ESTATE

By The United Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 29—The Memphis Commercial-Appeal said today in a copyright article from Jackson, Miss., that the late Sen. Theodore Bilbo's estate of more than $100,000 will be shared equally by his son and daughter by two marriages. Bilbo left no insurance. His cash totals $3,000 it was said.

SINCLAIR PIPELINE LINK COMPLETED

Entire System Joined with Marion a Division Point.

Completion of a pipeline linking Youngstown and Steubenville as part of a system connecting East Chicago, Ill. with Marcus Hook, Pa. and under administration of the new Pipelines Division office in Marion, was announced today by the Sinclair Refining company, according to a United Press report from New York.

The line will carry the company's petroleum products.

The main line originally was built in the east from Marcus Hook to Steubenville and in the west from East Chicago to Toledo. It was extended northward to Detroit, southward to Columbus and eastward from Marion to Akron and Youngstown.

The line now completed from Youngstown to Steubenville links the entire system.

Between Steubenville and Toledo the line is equipped to pump products east or west, which enables Sinclair to meet extraordinary demands anywhere within the area served.

Now that the line is completed, the company explained, it is possible to serve the area from the Atlantic coast to Chicago by the East Chicago refinery in the middle west or the Marcus Hook refinery on the Atlantic seaboard.

Moreover, Sinclair Refining has under construction an extension of the line from Akron to Cleveland.

11 Hurt in Rail Crash At Toledo's Station

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 29 — The Pacemaker, crack New York Central passenger train, crashed into an engine at Toledo's union station today, injuring 11 persons.

The westbound Pacemaker, arriving 17 minutes late, was switched to the wrong track and collided with a backing Baltimore & Ohio engine, E. C. Cook, NYC passenger agent in Toledo, said.

Most of the passengers were in their seats at the early hour and thus escaped being thrown to the floor.

The Pacemaker continued to Chicago more than an hour late, after its damaged engine was replaced.

REAL ESTATE BOARDS ANSWER U.S. SUIT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 — The National Association of Real Estate boards called for "facts and figures" from its 918 affiliates today in preparation for its defense against a federal anti-trust indictment.

Government lawyers and attorneys for the association and the Washington real estate board arranged a conference at the justice department today to discuss procedures and time schedules leading up to court hearings.

Herbert U. Nelson, executive secretary of the NAREB, said the association "probably will ask for some delay in the arraignment" in order to obtain data from affiliated boards.

In a statement issued yesterday through its president, Morgan L. Fitch of Chicago, the NAREB declared "it seems an outrage" that the association could not give congress and the administration its views on housing legislation "without danger of reprisals."

"Apparently the time has come," the statement continued,

"Tame" Bomb To Help Savants Discover Useful Atomic Power

By The Associated Press

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., Aug. 29—Development of a "tame" atomic bomb for research into ways to get useful power from nuclear fission was announced today by the atomic energy commission.

Instead of a devastating blast, the toned-down bomb produces a steady output of fast neutrons, needed for experiments to determine what kind of chain reaction is best for practical power purposes.

It is a new type of chain reaction plant or "pile" utilizing high energy neutrons for atomic fission off plutonium. The commission's announcement described it as in a sense "a controlled version of the atomic bomb itself."

Dr. Norris E. Bradbury, director of the commission's Los Alamos scientific laboratory, said the new unit has been in successful operation at low power since November, 1946.

"More intense degree"

Bradbury said the reactor gives a more intense source of "fast neutrons" than physicists heretofore have been able to obtain except during the brief time of the test of the first A-bomb in New Mexico in July, 1945.

The atomic energy commission's release on the subject said:

"It is the first (pile) to employ the fission of the man-made element plutonium, instead of natural uranium and it is the first to use fast neutrons. Other chain reactors of other atomic energy commission installations utilize slow neutrons."

Fast neutrons are produced in the explosion of an atomic bomb, but physicists had only a limited opportunity to study these high-speed nuclear bullets during the New Mexico bomb explosion.

DEWEY TALK VIEWED AS 1ST JAB AT TAFT

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's endorsement of universal military training was viewed here today as his first punch at Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R-O.), his chief rival in current speculation for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination.

Taft has long been on record in opposition to compulsory training.

The New York governor, who gave his endorsement at the American Legion convention at New York yesterday, has been silent recently on major political issues.

In contrast, Taft has been quick to speak his mind on current issues, particularly on domestic questions. He will have his best chance to discuss universal training and other issues next month when he follows Dewey's recent example of making a tour of the west. Taft's aides expected the final itinerary to be completed today.

Taft, now vacationing in Canada, was unavailable for comment on the statements of Dewey and President Truman to the Legion in support of universal training. One of his aides recalled, however, that he had long opposed such training and advocated, instead, a large professional standing army with pay and other attractions sufficient to maintain it at the desired size.

But Dewey told the Legionnaires:

"I urge that it is our duty to provide a program involving participation by all able - bodied young Americans now under universal training. Hard as military training may be, it is a powerful bulwark against far greater hardship—war itself."

Once-Fashionable Resort Made Into Model Prison for Women

By The Associated Press

PENCE SPRINGS, W. Va., Aug. 29 — Comfortable, airy rooms for which fashionable folk of an earlier generation were eager to pay a fancy price are occupied today by West Virginia's female felons.

The beautiful and roomy surroundings here on the banks of the Greenbriar river are in sharp contrast to the cramped and stuffy quarters where the 60 women have been segregated for years behind the high walls of the state penitentiary at Moundsville.

The state legislature seriously interested itself in the women's penal problem in 1945 and a committee sent to Moundsville to investigate found facilities there "shockingly overcrowded and inadequate." An appropriation of $203,000 was voted to establish a separate institution for women.

Restore Property

Last year the state paid $45,000 for the old resort hotel here and 81.1 acres of the lush tillable land surrounding it. Workers have been busy ever since restoring the property. What hasn't yet been done will be completed by women inmates as part of their prison tasks.

The new institution has come to life in the very next county to that occupied by a model of U. S. penal administration, the federal reformatory for women at Alderson, W. Va. Prison life here will be patterned to a great extent on that practiced at the national prison.

The only prison atmosphere at Pence Springs derives from steel reinforced doors and bars across windows and transoms.

There is a separate, well-furnished room with bath for each inmate. The large communal dining hall has walls of pale blue, French windows and doors, 12 silver-plated chandeliers and recovered walnut chairs that graced the room when Pence Springs was a resort hotel.

Recreation Room

The basement recreation room has a great fireplace and an upright piano. That, plus the farming, the workshop, sewing projects, weaving and outdoor sports will be helpful in the development of a contented atmosphere, prison authorities believe.

Pence Springs, located 12 miles from the railroad town of Hinton, was once one of the fashionable watering places of West Virginia. The principal appeal was the mineral water, which is still bottled commercially and used in the manufacture of soda and fruit drinks.

Early guest buildings were destroyed by fire about 1892, and the 80-room brick hotel which the state acquired for such a modest price was erected later at a cost of $300,000.

There are four disciplinary rooms in the new prison, each meagerly furnished with a bed, wash bowl and toilet.

Hope They Won't Be used

"I wish we didn't have them and I hope we never have to unlock these doors," said Superintendent Blanche Lockard, "but sometimes it is necessary for a prisoner to be alone and to think things over."

Mrs. Lockard, whose career includes periods as a school principal in Ohio, as a hospital dietition in Ohio and four years as custodial officer of the Alderson federal reformatory, describes the new prison in these words:

"It's an ideal location and a perfect one in which to rehabilitate women. If we had built from the ground up we might have erected a more convenient building, but by re-doing this old hotel we have achieved charm, beauty and even several luxuries at a small cost."

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A Challenge to Medicine

High blood pressure with all its related disorders has been called the No. 1 problem confronting modern medicine. So far, though studies and experiments are being carried on in ever-increasing numbers, we still lack a complete answer as to its cause.

Until this is discovered treatment cannot be 100 per cent effective, and there will continue to be many cases which no treatment will restore to normal.

However, great advances have been made, so that today the high blood pressure patient has a better chance for life and health than he ever had before. In general the disorder can be treated in two ways medically and surgically.

Dr Watson F. Rogers of West Virginia and Dr. Robert S. Palmer of Boston, Massachusetts have made a study of more than 600 patients with high blood pressure in an attempt to compare the effects of medical treatment with those of surgical treatment.

In carrying out the medical treatment of high blood pressure, they point out that it is important for the patient to be reassured and encouraged and to get rid of the fears about the disorder. At least nine hours of sleep at night, and when possible, daytime rests, together with proper exercise, are advised. Sedatives or quieting preparations such as phenobarbital are taken four times daily.

These physicians insist that the diet should be low in cholesterol, which is a substance found in animal fats such as butter and meat fats, particularly and which, it is thought, may play a part in producing changes in the arteries which promote high blood pressure. The diet also includes large amounts of protein foods such as lean meat, milk and eggs, which are low in cholesterol content, unless there is some disturbance of the kidneys. They also, occasionally, favor a diet limited in salt.

Of late doctors have used the drug known as potassium sulfocyanate in some instances, and it would appear that this preparation may bring about a drop in the blood pressure in some cases.

As a result of this treatment, Drs. Rogers and Palmer concluded that relief of symptoms could be obtained in a very high percentage of the mild cases of high blood pressure, in three out of four of those with moderately high blood pressure, and in about half of those with the condition in its severe form.

High blood pressure may be treated surgically by means of an operation called sympathectomy in which the nerves of the involuntary nervous systems are cut. This operation has been found twice as effective as medical treatment in lowering blood pressure to normal or nearly normal. But after three years this drop in blood pressure remains in only 25 per cent of patients though at least 60 per cent show some lowering of the blood pressure.

Relief of headache occurred in practically all cases in which the operation was performed. In most severe types of high blood pressure, they are of the opinion that operation is the best method of treatment, if there is no great damage to the kidneys and no failure of the heart.

Though high blood pressure is a real problem we should never forget that a patient with this disorder may live a long and active life. In fact high blood pressure may be present for years without causing any distressing symptoms. This should not, however, make us careless or neglectful because in the long run the individual with high blood pressure who goes early for treatment will fare the best. It should always be remembered that changes in arteries and organs which long-continued high pressure brings about cannot be reversed, but good treatment begun early may prevent them for many years.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. H.: What is conjunctivitis and can it be cured?

Answer: Conjunctivitis or inflammation of the lining membrane of the eyelids and eyeball is caused by many types of infection. The lids are red and swollen, and the white part of the eyeball may become bloodshot. Discharge is usually present.

In mild cases, the use of a boric acid eye wash may be helpful. Practically all cases of conjunctivitis are curable.

CHURCH CONFERENCE PROGRAM AT GALION

Prominent Speakers To Mark Three Day Session.

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 29—Prominent speakers will be heard during the holiday weekend fall conference of leaders of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union which will be held in Galion. Four Galion societies of the Christian Youth group of the Church of Christ, Evangelical United Brethren, First Presbyterian, and First Reformed churches, will be hosts for the conference. Headquarters for the conference will be at the First Evangelical and Reformed church. Registration for the state delegates will begin Saturday, Aug. 30, at the church on Harding Way West, with meetings to continue on Sunday and Monday.

The conference will bring such speakers as Rev. Clair E. Beatty of Columbus, state executive secretary for the society; Rev. James A. Thomas, pastor of the Eastminster Presbyterian church of Toledo; Rev. Charles E. F. Howe, one of the newest and youngest members of the staff of the International Society of Christian Endeavor. Rev. Howe has been president of the Detroit Christian Endeavor union and pastor of the Presbyterian church of Holt, Mich. He recently moved to Columbus Presbytery.

The conference theme will be "Building Christian Leadership." For the outdoor mass meeting at Heise Park football field at 8 p. m., Saturday, the public is invited. The speaker will be Rev. Howe, and singing will be led by Dick Hampton of Plymouth. At 10 p. m., Saturday, a song service will be held on Galion's public square. A picnic at Heise park, Saturday at 6 p. m., will precede the evening services.

Rev. Thomas will speak at the Sunday evening services when the singing will be led by Thelma Bybee of Columbus. The public is also invited to this service.

Reports and pictures of the conventions at New Philadelphia and San Francisco, will also feature the conference. It will close Monday afternoon.

HIGH TAXES CALLED FORM OF COMMUNISM

Hydraulic Press Co. President Writes in Magazine.

"High taxes are simply another name for Communism," H. A. Toulmin, Jr., president of The Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Company, Mt. Gilead, O., charges in an article in the August issue of "Press Proofs" a company publication, published today.

"If we have been paying up to 97 per cent in taxes. If that is not Communism by appropriation of private property, I would like to know what it is," he writes.

"Tax reduction is not a political issue; it is a matter of life and death for free enterprise and the capitalistic system.

"To maintain that we can continue to tax income at the rates of 1946 and 1947 and keep a healthy economy in this country is just plain silly!

"No one but a bureaucrat can be happy about high taxes.

"Any tax system that seeks to level off income by high taxes on big income is a positive danger to our nation," Toulmin adds.

"Big incomes provide the extra money that is needed now for investment to provide jobs for lower income groups.

"Unless business can continue to expand through the addition of new investments from the savings of the people, there will not be jobs enough for all in this nation with its growing population."

A chart showing the rise of wage costs since 1939 in contrast with the virtually level curve of production per man hour in the same years accompanies the article.

Only improved machines will bridge this gap, Toulmin insists.

1936 INDUSTRY LEVEL PROPOSED FOR REICH

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Aug. 29—A western Germany with an industrial capacity about equal to 1936 was envisaged today by the United States and Great Britain in a new level-of-industry plan providing for annual steel production of 10,700,000 ingot tons.

Under the plan, the U. S. and British zones, to relieve the burden on American and British taxpayers, would produce 15 per cent more exports than the same areas did in 1936—three years before Germany started World War II—to bring in $2,000,000,000 a year.

The new plan was a revision of the four-power level-of-industry and reparations agreement of March, 1946. In announcing it, the U. S. and British military governors—Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas—termed the low ceiling set in that agreement "unrealistic."

Under the four-power plan, the steel ceiling for all Germany was 5,800,000 tons. Under the British-American plan, the British and U. S. zones alone would produce nearly double that.

Disclosure of the plan followed by two days the close of a six-day conference of the U. S., Britain and France in London during which German industry was discussed.

In that conference, the French voiced objections to the plan based on their fears of a Germany with renewed power for warmaking. Before the conference, Russia protested that leaving her out of the talks violated the 1945 Potsdam agreement.

The Clay-Douglas announcement set no specific ceiling for steel capacity to be retained in the U. S. and British zones, but it was reported reliably that this would be about 11,500,000 tons a year.

BLIND partners with handicaps highlighted the morning of golf at the weekly ladies' day party yesterday at the Marion Country club. Winners were Mrs. Harry Larcar, Mrs. C. K. Carter, Mrs Howard Stoll, Mrs. Floyd Yeager, Mrs. George Howser, Mrs. W. E. Dutton, Mrs. John Waddell and Mrs. Charles Geroer. Luncheon at noon was followed by bridge in the afternoon with honors going to Mrs. R. A. Anderson, Mrs. Otis Porter, Mrs. John Waddell, Mrs. Charles Rinehart and Mrs J. P. Scott. Next Thursday, the local group will entertain the groups of women golfers from Columbus and Newark. No bridge will be played in the afternoon. Women who do not play golf but who wish to attend the luncheon must call in their reservations.

A PRE-NUPTIAL party complimenting Miss Margaret Ann Luke, a bride-elect of September, was given Tuesday evening with Mrs Carl F. Werley Jr. and Miss Barbara Axe as cohostesses. Guests were invited to Mrs Werley's home on Chestnut street.

Miss Luke found her gift by following a long string and winding it around a clothespin as she walked toward the hiding place. Games and contests were played during the evening Some eighteen guests were present.

Miss Luke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Russell D. Luke of 261 Edgewood drive will become the bride of Robert Allan Schuler of Boston, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W Schuler of 270 Chestnut street, on Sept. 8.

Thirteen members and 18 guests were present Wednesday evening for the monthly picnic of Onio Eta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority at Lincoln park.

Guests included Miss Ann Goyer, Miss Lois Dunlap, Joseph Petrich, Miss Toni Petrich, Robert Cunningham, Fred Warner, Francis Wise, John Jones, Harold McNew, Ray Glassner, Dr W. A Ranck, Robert Ruth and Mr and Mrs Ray Campbell.

During the evening a farewell party was held for Mrs Marcella Glassner who is leaving soon to live in Akron and Mrs Sarah Parky Warner was welcomed nome after living the past few months in Tennessee.

Capt. Ralph E. Hamilton of the Marion Engineer Depot and Mrs. Hamilton, resident of Scioto Village, entertained a group of friends at a picnic Thursday evening in honor of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs Charles S. Hamilton of New York City who are spending a few days here. Mr. Hamilton just recently completed a successful season in light opera at the Moat in Memphis, Tenn., and stopped in Marion enroute back to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Foos of near Marion entertained Tuesday afternoon with a party honoring the birthday of their daughter, Janie Christine.

The table was centered with a large birthday cake and favors were party hats, whirligigs, balloons and horns Contests were played with awards going to Ann Bookmeyer, Larry Hite, Barbara Lawson and Audrey Swensen. Miss Miriam Kinney and Miss Patsy Tuttle assisted with the serving.

Guests present were Janie, Janet Hite, Margaret McAlpin, Barbara Lawson, Ann Bookmeyer, Carol Reiser, Treva Gould, Judy Bils, Audrey Swensen, Barbara Tivenan, Larry Hite, Henry Bils, Bobby Jones, Stanton Swinart, Roger McAlpin and Gary Gould.

High honors and the galloping prize in cards went to Mrs. Howard Rizer and low to Mrs. Willis Drumm. Mrs Rizer will entertain the club in two weeks ather home on Oak Grove avenue.

Weddings

Mrs. Carl Haycox of 494 Jefferson street was attendant for her mother, Mrs. Opal Harris of Memphis, Tenn., at the recent marriage of Mrs. Harris and Paul Branum of Lacarne, O. The ceremony was performed at Greenup, Ky. Mr. Haycox served as best man for Mr. Branum. Following a wedding supper at the Haycox home here, Mr. and Mrs. Branum went to make their home in Cleveland where Mr. Branum is employed.

Above-Normal Decline In Store Sales Noted

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 29 — Although department store sales usually reach the low point of the summer dring July, the decline from June this year was somewhat more noticeable than usual, the federal reserve bank of Cleveland reported today in its July anaysis of store sales in the fourth federal reserve district.

For the district as a whole, July sales fell 17 per cent short of the June total. However, sales continued larger than a year ago They were 8 per cent greater than July, 1946, and thus highest on record for the month.

Dollar volume continued to run at levels approximately twice as large as in the comparable months of prewar 1941, the bank added.

Beetles Put To Work Scouring Up Old Bones

By The United Press

PITTSBURGH—There's a "bug house" in a converted election booth near Carnegie Museum where beetles are busy cleaning bones for the museum They call the place a dermestorium.

The dermestorium is operated by J. Kenneth Doutt, curator of mammalogy, a branch of zoology

Doutt explained that skulls and skeletons need thorough cleaning before being filed in dust-proof drawers or exhibited to the public

The beetles do all the work. But it takes anywhere from a week to two years for the bettles to finish the job.

Doutt said sometimes the beetles refuse to work.

"They seem to have a secret code whereby nobody does anything for weeks, sometimes months at a time"

BOMB

In other chain reacting piles employing uranium, the neutrons produced by the "splitting" of atoms are slowed down before they themselves cause the splitting of other atoms to maintain the chain. The deliberate slowing gives the neutrons a better chance to stick in the nucleus of a uranium atom It is accomplished by mixing some other substance—such as graphite or water—with the nuclear fuel.

Uses No Dilution

But the Los Alamos reactor uses no such diluting material, and thus shares with the atomic bomb the property of using the neutrons from fission almost as soon as they are emitted

Operators can control the rate of energy release of the reactor, the heart of which is a small vessel containing an amount of nuclear explosive plutonium sufficient to start a chain reaction

The heat produced in the core of the reactor is no greater than that given off by a kitchen oven But, while the overall energy release is comparatively small, the concentration is intense

WORKSHOP

as pertaining to both the child that does succeed well and to the child who fails It was concluded that through reading, a child "develops the ability to widen his experience, increase his knowledge and pleasure, and understand the world in which he lives, a practice of oral expression "develops good patterns of speech and an adequate outlet of his deeper feelings, through which he more effectively copes with real-life situations"; and both oral and silent reading "enables a child to make a greater contribution to his group, community, environment, and self."

Second point was that "Bad behavior is due to feelings of insecurity, frustration, and malajustment that the child cannot manage by himself" To offset these, it was stressed that "mental hygiene should permeate every classroom, stimulated by the teacher's personality and understanding of the child's needs and each should have the ability to meet these needs in such a way as to help the child achieve continuous success"

Third point was that "The child's feelings are important to him. Adults often do not know these feelings of children It is necessary that parents and teachers develop a deep sense of the dignity of the child, of his basic potentiality for goodness, and help him to develop a wholesome adequate sense of his worthwhileness"

It was emphasized that "In working towards these goals, we are helping the child to become a more mature, better adjusted and well-integrated citizen On the other hand, for the child who cannot progress with the group, we must be constantly alert to the needs of those children who either lag behind the group or have the capacity for going ahead. We must be diligent in finding the special techniques which will be best adapted to them."

EMBEZZLER OF FUND FOR CHILDREN JAILED

By The Associated Press

ELYRIA, O., Aug. 29 — The man who resigned as executive director of the Loram county child welfare department last July was under prison sentence today for the embezzlement of $1,483 paid by parents for support of their children in county institutions.

The ex-county officer is Carl W. Wagner, 36 and the father of three children, and Common Pleas Judge Guy B. Findley estimates he will be released from the Ohio penitentiary in 11 to 12 months.

The length of the sentence was not precisely determined yesterday after Wagner pleaded guilty in Judge Findley's court to the embezzlement charge in an indictment by the grand jury

In charging Wagner, the jury also took the occasion to extend its report to "surprise and shock" at the present county set-up.

The jurors spoke of what they called "negligence and loose handling of county funds, the placement of children in unfit homes and the lack of responsibility that has attended the administration of the Loram county child welfare department."

"It is our conviction," the jurors said, that the 'future will be best secured by the consolidation of this activity into the Lorainocounty welfare department."

Howard Bonner, 20, of Magnetic Springs drove from 37 onto 4 colliding with a truck driven by Lewis Hartman, 30, of Dayton. Damage to both vehicles was slight and no injury resulted.

New York Religious Cult Dwindles To 50

By The United Press

ALBANY, N. Y.—Once nearly 3,000 strong, the Shakers—members of a pioneer religious cult started here in 1774—now number only about 50.

However, the few remaining members of the sect do not regret the 170-year-old experiment in pacifism, withdrawal from the world and community of property. In the words of the oldest living member, 98-year-old Sister Sadie Neale, the Shakers are confident their religion will be revived again "in some other form."

The story of the Shaker church—the United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Coming—is the story of Ann Lee, daughter of an English blacksmith who became a domestic for an early Albany family.

Following a Messianic vision, history relates, Ann Lee led her followers to nearby Niskayuna—then a wilderness—where they practiced their principle of celibacy.

The Shakers there won general respect for their industry in making furniture, building their stone houses and barns, inventing a buzz saw and one-horse shay, and for the vitality of the seeds which they marketed.

Others of their colonies—particularly at New Lebanon—were persecuted at first. Crowds used to gather at their meetings to jeer when the Shakers would "shake," "jerk" and "bark" as the spirit moved them.

Paper Route Starts Newsboy to College

By The United Press

MILWAUKEE — Edward Reuter turned three years of newspaper delivery into a college education.

The youth worked hard for three years and recently quit his paper route because he had saved the $900 which will enable him to start at the University of Wisconsin this fall.

The last night of his delivery, all Edward's subscribers were at home, and each had a gift or small present to speed him on his way.

SWEDES WOULD RATHER WALK

Drivers' License Tests Are So Stringent, Owners of Cars Sometimes Wonder.

By International News Service

STOCKHOLM — Obtaining a driver's license in Norway and Sweden is like cramming for a master's degree. When a motorist finally makes the grade he finds the laws so stringent that he almost wishes he'd never have gotten the yen to drive a car.

It is generally conceded that no other countries in the world so thoroughly test a man before allowing him the doubtful benefit of a driver's license.

It seems that the authorities keep a wary eye on a newly-licensed driver for the express purpose of putting him behind bars or relieving him of the badge of efficiency for which he labored so hard.

Scandinavians Thorough

The method of obtaining a license in most states in America appears silly in comparison with the thoroughness attached to the procedure in Scandinavia.

Whether or not a person will obey the traffic rules and regulations in Norway and Sweden is one thing. But that person certainly will know how to drive, and he'll definitely know the traffic rules and regulations of his country.

To begin with, the two countries are crammed with automobile schools. Obliged by law to carry plates identifying their vehicles as "instruction cars," they are the only automobiles known to have the indignant respect of the pedestrian.

Don't Argue with Vehicle

No Swede nor Norwegian pedestrian will argue the right of way with an instruction vehicle. Besides, there are so many of them a pedestrian hasn't got a chance.

It is generally conceded that a beginner must have at least as many driving lessons as his age. Some might qualify on less. The lessons are conducted in the center of the city and more often than not, during the rush hours. If one is acquainted with many of the narrow streets of old world cities and the many, many bicyclists one understands and shudders at the difficulties facing the driver.

During the tests, the beginner must not only drive well, but he must know the rules and regulations. These are drilled into him in the classrooms of the instruction schools.

Taught Mechanics

He never receives his certificate from the school if he cannot apply classroom study to his driving. In addition he is taught the fundamentals of the motor.

When the school is convinced that the driving student has made the grade, it issues him a certificate and arranges for the all-important test before the state inspectors. Here the student again goes through verbal, written and driving tests before stern inspectors.

After the applicant finally passes the state test, he comes face to face with the laws. They are disagreeable in the matter of punishment.

No Fines, Just Jail

No such thing as fines. If he violates a traffic regulation or rule the unfortunate driver goes behind jail bars. And his social position won't help him.

The laws regarding drunken driving are a fair example of what the entire structure is like.

In Norway, if a driver shows more than .08 per cent alcohol in his blood he is drunk, and there is no arguing the point. He gets 21 days in the jug to bemoan his fate.

In Sweden the alcoholic limit is 1.0 per cent and the sentence is 21 to 30 days. Any accident, however trifling, calls for a needle in the finger tip.

Opening Gambit

LIKE a chess player cautiously surveying the board, Governor Dewey makes his first important commitment as a possible presidential candidate when he endorses military training. The fact that Senator Taft opposes it isn't just happenstance.

For years universal military training was an abstract issue for Americans. Now it has become a very real issue. Despite public opinion polls which show substantial majorities for it, the measure was squelched this year in congress. Governor Dewey's statement underlines it as a live issue and one that will not down because it was lost in the congressional shuffle.

Governor Dewey picked a likely subject for his opening campaign gambit. The American Legion, now in session, is expected to endorse universal military training. Despite congress' lukewarm attitude there is strong backing for it. A potential candidate, evaluating these factors, could do much worse than endorse UMT as his opening move, especially when his principal opponent is against it.

Sometimes It Gets Excitin'

HENRY A. WALLACE, still a-feudin', fussin' and fightin', has drawn a bead on the Democratic national convention. He threatens to win control of the convention, throw out the Truman crowd and run the country—right into the ground. When last heard from a few months back, Henry was planning to start a new party of his own.

It's good to hear from Henry again and to know the recent heat didn't wilt him down. This country has learned to depend on him. He makes the most comprehensive statements of the incomprehensible things he stands for.

He is the rallying point for the fuzzy-minded, like a blue serge suit is for lint.

Formerly, it was hard to keep track of the fuzzy-wuzzies. They were sprinkled all through that great amorphous blob of political opportunism known as the New Deal—mixed in with Boss Hague and Boss Kelly, cuddled up to Cordell Hull and Madame Perkins, lying in the same bun with Frankfurter and telling the old fashioned Democrat who lived next door that he too was part of a great movement to usher in a planned economy with master-minds like Little Pigs Wallace doing all the planning.

Welcome back, Henry. Of all the fuzzy-wuzzies qualified to be No. 1 fuzzy-wuzzy and to keep all the little woolly fuzzy-wuzzies preoccupied, you're the one.

Travel Is Broadening

THE 19 member house select committee on conditions in Europe begins its task next week. What the members learn on their trip (the disparaging word "junket" is withheld here in the hope it is incorrect) is open to doubt. Much of the information they will pick up in Europe is available in Washington. However, just visiting Europe, observing the condition of the people, noting what they wear, how they look and how they speak will give diligent observers knowledge that can't be put on paper.

To the charge that the committee is becoming too involved with foreign policy, the answer is that foreign and economic policies have become so intertwined there in no separating them. When the Marshall plan goes to congress, the house foreign committee, will have to make recommendations which will beyond congress' traditional scope. Any wisdom based on practical observation will be of immeasurable aid in shaping those recommendations.

Keep Our Streams Clean

A REPORT that a coal mine on the outskirts of Leesville, Carroll county, is to be reopened with waste water from its washing operations discharged into Conotton creek, will be of interest to all Ohioans concerned with developing the state's natural resources.

The creek is one of the best fishing streams in the state, but it won't be if acid waste waters are let into it. What's more, the district has many other mines. If one uses the streams to carry off its waste water, others will too, with the result that the mid-Ohio chain of recreational streams and lakes will be jeopardized.

Ohio too long has neglected developing the recreational possibilities of its streams and lakes, but now the Muskingum conservancy district has made a good start. The district recently issued an order prohibiting the pollution of streams and lakes so as to affect aquatic life. Let us hope this action is sufficient to halt the threat to Conotton creek.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Union Leaders Refuse Labor Law a Chance.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—Some national union leaders are working themselves up hotter in their campaign to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and are not trying to live by it. In his typical Chicago speech, AFL's Bill Green dared the Republicans to run Senator Taft for president, promising Taft the worst defeat in all presidential history. Green said specifically there would be no "compromise" with the law by the unions. He promised complete repeal, or, as he phrased it, "the defeat" of the law.

A private survey of opinions among Green's own workers and others has been made by the Opinion Research Corporation, Princeton, N. J., (Dr. Claude Robinson, president). This survey challenges Green completely, and sets forth a peculiar condition of workers' opinions under the title: "The Strange Case of the Taft-Hartley Bill." It is marked confidential and the condition it discovered has not been reported for public knowledge or belief, namely this:

The workers generally believe the bill is a slave labor bill, and an instrument of oppression. Yet paradoxically, the same workers generally approve the main features of the law when these are spelled out to them. The worker favors what is in the law but did not know the law contained what he wanted.

A representative sample-method poll of employes showed 54 per cent of all disapproved the law; 64 per cent of union members disapproved (meaning half of all workers, and two-thirds of the union members, roughly). Opponents say such things as: "We fought for a free country, we should be allowed to strike for our rights," and "Labor went back 50 years under this bill." Forty-six per cent of all employes thought management would now try to bust the unions, 38 per cent expected management to bargain fairly, while 16 per cent had no opinion.

But when these same pollees were asked specifically about what is really in the same law, a majority favored every feature of it. And a majority of the union membership alone favored every feature excepting one (outlawing of the closed shop, not realizing that the law approved the union shop).

The survey gives the percentages of worker support for various features of the new law among the union members alone, as follows: Favor 60 day cooling, 70 per cent; suits against unions, 70; freedom of speech for employers, 61; requiring union financial reports, 85; prohibit Communist leaders, 77; prohibit union political contributions, 50; allow checkoff only with workers consent, 74; allow union shop only with majority vote, 77; outlaw closed shop, 48; delay strikes in public service industries, 70. The survey recommends to its clients a management campaign to acquaint workers with the provisions of the bill. The poll claims further only 54 per cent of workers were able at the outset to name any specific provisions of the law their leaders oppose.

Not the least surprising aspect of this news phenomena is specific evidence in the poll that the newspapers are mostly responsible for the uninformed conditions of the worker—not the partisan periodicals of the union leaders. Seventy-eight (78 mind you) per cent of respondents said they received their knowledge of the bill from newspapers and magazines, 38 per cent from commentators and 22 per cent from general comment (some having more than one answer). Only 10 per cent got their information from union newspapers, circulars, handbills and literature.

Ideas from Speeches

The newspapers carry speeches of union leaders like Green's, and as these leaders are speaking and acting all the time in defiance of the law, their crescendo in the regular daily press has drowned out accurate knowledge of what the law says. The newspapers have fallen down on the reporting job completely, these figures suggest.

But if the figures are true, Green's speech is falsely grounded. The Opinion Research Corp. does not pretend its figures are complete, but were done by fair sampling, yet they show such strong majorities as to indicate a possibly wrong national union policy. Certainly, someone should find out for sure.

If they are true, the union campaign of defiance of the law is on false ground. The leaders may be trying to repeal in entirety a law the provisions of which are all approved (save one) by a majority of the polled membership covered in this survey.

Then Senator Taft was not speaking blindly in his unsupported claim at Columbus that the union rank and file really favors his bill. Certainly this poll suggests union membership would, at the very least, favor it, if permitted a fair and reasonable knowledge of its provisions.

Didn't Benny Have a Single Accomplice?

The United States has canceled a billion dollars in Italian war debts and given Italy 23 ships to replace vessels sunk during the conflict.

Our immediate reaction is one of stunned silence, it being too early in the year for editorials which begin: "Yes, Virginia, There Is a Santa Claus."

It is difficult, at this point, to say who is the more surprised: The Italians, who lost the war, or the Americans who thought we won it.

In addition, the U. S. is releasing sixty million dollars in Italian assets as soon as the individual owners are certified as non-fascists. As if anyone with that kind of money could be.

Increasingly, it becomes apparent that those cheering thousands in the balcony scenes were somehow done with mirrors.

Mussolini, long dead though he be, continues to increase in stature. Whatever one may think of him, who else could have waged such a war absolutely single-handedly?

Truman in 1947

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THIS article is written after an automobile trip of more than 9,000 miles. Most of the states of the Midwest, Northwest, Pacific Coast and mountains were crossed. In a number of articles before this, I touched on political opinion in these states, particularly with reference to various Republican presidential possibilities. It may be of interest now to outline what this survey revealed about the present status of Harry S. Truman in the minds of his countrymen.

A year ago on a similar trip I found a good deal of irritation with the President, chiefly because of his stubborn maintenance of wartime controls and regulations. Today, the memory of those controls has all but passed away, and Truman has regained much of the tolerant good will that he had in his first year in the White House. As always, the mild man from Missouri inspires little enthusiasm and evokes little hostility. The only people who speak harshly of him are Wallace admirers. To them, Truman is a betrayer of liberalism, as they understand that vague term. If their present state of mind remains unchanged, there will be plenty of sabotage in next year's election.

But most people feel that Truman is part of a national picture which is pleasant and prosperous, despite all we hear about domestic and foreign dangers. As was the case with Coolidge, the president who presides over a bounteous land is an omen of good luck.

Money Flowing

There is no doubt about the general feeling of prosperity in this country, regardless of the reality or soundness of that prosperity. Money is flowing, and people are out to get what they can and spend for what they want. Even Truman's denial of tax reductions seems to have done him no harm. The Taft-Hartley Act, except among professional labor people, is regarded as a wise law. But Truman's unsuccessful veto is now regarded as a mere incident in its history. Republicans would have hard going this year on these issues.

There is no doubt, either, about Truman's appraisal of himself. A newspaperman who saw him not long ago said Truman confessed that when he became president he was pretty scared about the burdens he was to carry. But now, the President feels that no one could have done better. The Truman who will run for President next year will be aggressive and confident, and he will not be easy to beat.

His weakness as a candidate, however is aleady clear. He will not be elected by prosperous farmers. They are as they were in 1944, heavily Republican. Most businessmen who speak well of him will nevertheless support a Republican. In the great cities he will never stir the enthusiasm and get out the vote that carried Roosevelt through four elections. This is in part due to the enmity of the Wallace people. They would rather see a Republican win and then hope for a turn in their fortunes four years later.

Machines Creaking

But more serious than this defection are the present defects in the city machines which turned in great masses of votes for Roosevelt. Kelly in Chicago and Hague in Jersey City are fading dictators. Guffey in Pennsylvania stands repudiated. The revived Pendergast organization is in serious trouble. In the big cities of California, Democrats are in a bitter controversy. The states in which these weaknesses exist are essential to the election of Truman. Only Roosevelt's enormous popularity in these cities carried him against the normal Republican vote in the country districts. Truman has neither the personal magnetism nor the vast patronage that Roosevelt used so effectively in 1940 and 1944.

The only thing that might alter this picture would be the gathering of darker international clouds. In that case, the Truman appeal would be his experience and knowledge in foreign affairs. On domestic issues alone, despite present and prospective prosperity, Truman could not win.

New Disease

Chronic beryllium poisoning is the newest occupational disease to be discovered, as a result of investigation into the death of a woman employe in a fluorescent lamp factory at Bloomfield, N. J. Beryllium gives off a miscroscopic dust while being processed and the fine particles cause a lung inflammation similar to pneumonia.

SUMMER TROUBLES

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Aug. 29, 1937.

Marcus B. Chase, 85, former Marion attorney, and real estate dealer, died in Lansing, Mich., where he made his home with a daughter, Mrs. John Krause.

Mrs. Harry L. Dowler of 242 Cummin avenue was painfully injured and other members of the family less seriously hurt in an automobile accident in Coldwater, Mich.

Thomas James Graham, 79, lifelong resident of Marion county, died at his home three and a half miles southeast of Marion on the Richland pike.

Miss Isabelle Stump, matron of Lydia Chapter No. 83, O.E.S., entertained at a tea for past matrons, past patrons, and officers at her home on the Waldo-Prospect road.

The Marion entry in the Ohio State League split a twin bill with Mansfield, winning one 6 to 5 and losing the other, 5 to 3. Marion was in second place, three games behind Mansfield, in the league standings.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Aug. 29, 1927.

The degree team of Marion Company No. 15, Knights of Pythias Uniform Rank, conferred the Sir Knight degree on 300 candidates at the annual convention at Cedar Point.

John J. Bernet, president of the Erie railroad arrived here from Cleveland on an inspection of Erie property.

The county commissioners approved architect's plans and determined to submit to the voters a proposal to remodel the courthouse by adding a fourth floor. The project was to cost $80,000.

Sherman Haldeman, Wilfred Luvisi, James Richards and Edgar Hastings, Marion DeMolay members, accompanied by "Dad" Charles H. Conley left for the state convention of the order in Zanesville.

Name Simplified

Australian cartographers, in the interests of simplicity, have eliminated Hoothalucodinnyamungo from their maps. It was the name of a great dividing mountain range. However, in South Australia there still is a lake named Cadibarrawirracanna.

The President's Surplus

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

DURING the discussion of the tax bills, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder warned a senate committee against cutting the federal budget, forecasting price drops and a possible $8,000,000,000 decline in revenue for 1947. On April 19, Mr. Truman reported a prospective budget surplus of $1,250,000,000 for the end of the 1947 fiscal year ending June 30. On July 2, the treasury announced a federal budget surplus of $753,787,660 for the 1947 fiscal year. The Republicans stated that the surplus would run between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000. Some even went higher.

As early as April 28, Senator Taft said:

"The treasury estimates in January, 1947, for the fiscal year 1947, were nearly $4,000,000,000 wrong. The estimates submitted in January for the fiscal year 1948 are evidently also wrong, but Mr. Snyder (secretary of the treasury, John W. Snyder) is refusing to bring them up to date for fear they may show a surplus which would justify a tax cut by a Republican congress."

Something Wrong

Now the President puts his surplus at $4,700,000,000. Apparently his bookkeeping was all wrong. The trouble is that the President has been holding out $1,300,000,000, not yet appropriated by congress, for such purposes as he may desire. His budget is so fixed that he will have that much, if not more, elbow room to function without congress. The Marshall plan alone could consume this $1,300,000,000 if not the entire $4,700,000,000. The President's problem is that this country is so heavily involved in foreign commitments that nobody can forecast even an approximation of how much money will be needed to make good our promises.

Senator Taft, during the debate on tax reduction, said:

"The President said there would be no tax reductions. But at the same time he increases the size of every civil department and asks for $3,000,000,000 not authorized. How about doing away with that and getting the tax reduction instead?"

Senator Bridges said:

"The President includes in his budget $1,750,000,000 for international finance. Whether this sum will be needed depends to a large extent upon legislative action by the congress on the President's international loan requests. If it is required, however, it probably will be sufficient to satisfy the flood of loan requests that will eventuate once the doors of our treasury are opened to foreign borrowers."

The President and his advisers concealed from congress the facts as to the surplus, making it difficult for congress to impose economies and to reduce the burdens of the people. Always the foreign policy was the ghost that was used to frighten the legislators. The second tax bill only cut revenue by $1,600,000,000 largely because of the concealment of the truth. Certainly the treasury knew what the surplus for the fiscal year 1947, which ended on June 30, 1947, would be at every stage of the tax discussion.

A much broader question is involved here than the figures show. It is the fundamental question of presidential responsibility. He is required by the Constitution to present to the congress the data it requires. Section 3 of article II of the Constitution reads:

"He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient."

One of the functions of congress is to pass appropriations, measures arising originally in the house of representatives. The president and his officers are required to provide such data as the congress may need. The assumption must be that such data is truthful, or, if the President is in doubt, that he will say so, or that it is to the best of his ability and he so declares. When the President and his officers provide positive data and it turns out that the figures are wrong, the country needs a better explanation than that on Aug. 20 they were more correct than on June 30. The time lapse is too short for the type of correction involved.

The American people have lapsed into loose thinking on fiscal subjects. Billions of dollars are thrown hither and yon like chicken feed. If we are not careful, we shall not have them to throw about.

He emptied the p bowl into his pocket and led me back t darkened theater. I followed him up the wi stairs which led past the electrician's boo the roof. By the light of a match we stum through halls and storerooms. Finally we g the door of a low-ceilinged prop room. H opened it, and at the far end of the room I a pair of shining eyes.

"What is it—a cat?" I asked.

"Nope," he said proudly, "a Zip."

He lit another match and I saw a little headed freak sitting on some old rags. T pygmies with heads like inverted ice-c cones used to be popular sideshow attract

"I've had him up here for a month," said as he fed the pin-head pretzels. "It's good to have a Zip."

When we hit the street again, I told him Shuberts wouldn't like it if they found out was going on in their theater. I suggested he rid of the pointi-head.

"Can't," he said simply. "He's muh pal."

The Shuberts have produced something 500 shows, but I don't think they'll ever fo Ted Healy. Mr. J. J. starred him in a coupl revues. The boys around Sardi's still tell story of J. J. and the cats. J. J. was suppo to have been allergic to the sight, sound smell of them. When Healy learned this, he out his stooges to round up every stray ca Manhattan. They corral some 300 and let t loose in the theater while J. J. was watch a rehearsal. I wasn't there, but the boys tell J. J. did a running broad jump over the orc tra pit, catapulted up three flights of stairs, barricaded himself in a dressing room. H spent a happy 10 minutes at the door, scratc and meowing like crazy.

DURING the tour of "Crazy Quilt," I go know the sheriff of every town we pla He was always at the stage door waiting Healy. I dropped in at Ted's hotel room one n when we were playing Missoula, Montana. chimp was sitting on Healy's bed nibbling graham cracker. "How can you live with smelly monster?" I asked.

Ted gave me what for him was the comp explanation. "He's muh pal," he said.

My favorite Healy story has to do with love life. One night the lady of his heart him it was all over between them. Healy put his hat and coat and said, "I am not a man to dismissed lightly." He bowed, walked out door, down into the cellar, and set fire to house.

That's muh pal!

Galion Voters To Act on Bond Issue for School Buildings

Special To The Star

GALION, Aug. 29—At a special meeting Thursday night the Galion board of education voted to present a bond issue of $615,000 to the voters of the Galion school district at the Nov. 4 election for the construction of two elemntary buildings to replace the North and South buildings, plus the improvement of the three other buildings and the construction of permanent bleachers at the athletic field. The new buildings proposed would be eight rooms and a combination gymnasium-auditorium.

In addition, the bond issue would pay for new roofs for the Junior and Senior High schools, stokers and improvement of the heating plant at the East school, classroom furniture and instructional equipment at all buildings, macadamized play areas at each of the elementary schools, draperies and stage equipment at the Senior High school, and increased seating capacity of the Junior High gymnasium.

Prior to the board meeting, a meeting of 23 representatives of civic organizations, P.-T. A. units, industrial leaders, child conservation groups, and clubs, was called by M. A. Povenmire, superintendent of schools, to appoint a citizens' committee to back the building program by contacting the public. Earl Logan, president of the board of education, appointed Mrs. John Mortland, Mrs. Floris Arnold and Fred Zoller as the committee, and they chose Robert Corry to act as chairman. The committee will be known as the Citizens' Educational Committee.

Besides the single bond issue for $615,000 voters at the Nov. 4 election will also be presented with a 4-mill school levy. This includes the renewal of the two and a half-mill levy voted five years ago, and an additional mill and a half for current operating expenses. This revenue is needed to provide additional teachers to take care of the over-crowded condition in the schools, to maintain salaries at least on the present level, and to pay up a deficit which has accrued in the general fund due to heavy emergency expenditures during the past school year. The levy would run four years. Action upon the request for the additional 1½-mill levy was taken at a previous board meeting.

Bond Debt Low

Present bonded indebtedness will be largely liquidated in the next two years, it was pointed out by Miss Monroe. By 1950 the rate will be less than one-half mill for the retirement of the present bonds.

The board approved the appointment of Miss Aliene Arndt as acting principal of the East school to replace Chester M. Stover who will be unable to assume his regular duties for the first time in 27 years because of a recent operation on his knee. Mrs. Phillip Neumann will substitute in the sixth grade at the building until Mr. Stover returns.

PASTORS' SCHOOL SET AT OHIO WESLEYAN

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 29—The thirteenth session of the Ohio Pastors' school for Methodist ministers will open Sunday, Aug. 31, at Ohio Wesleyan university with 107 Ohio ministers enrolled as students, Dr. Alva I. Cox, secretary-registrar of the Ohio Pastors' school announced today. Six lecturers and 15 faculty members will increase the total attendance to 128—all to be housed in Austin Hall during their six day stay at Ohio Wesleyan.

The Ohio Pastors' school, for Methodist accepted supply pastors, offers ministers who have not gone to a seminary the chance to become ordained upon completion of four years' study with the school. The annual week-long session meetings are devoted to lectures, discussion periods, and examination. Throughout the year, ministers in the school study assigned religious topics such as theology, church history, social ethics, and Christian education, and bring to the annual meetings required written work on these subjects. The Ohio Pastors' school has a graduate school as well as an undergraduate school.

Among the outstanding religious leaders who will lecture daily to the graduate school and hold evening seminars for both graduate and undergraduate schools are: Dr. Harris Franklin Rall, from the Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill.; Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Lucasville, O.; Dr. Karl Grossman, Cleveland, O.; Dr. J. Francis Farmer, Samuel Huston College, Austin, Tex.; and Dr. Eddy Aservatham and Dr. Robert J. Taylor, of Boston University School of Theology.

P. V. Robinson Gets Degree, Cum Laude, in College of Education.

Paul V. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Robinson of 688 Windsor street, is one of the 47 seniors graduating from Ohio State university today with honors in their fields of study, according to a public relations report from the university.

Mr. Robinson is graduating cum laude in college of education. Members of the family were present for the summer graduation.

A graduate of Harding High school, Mr. Robinson served with the Army in the Pacific area during the war. Before going overseas he was enrolled in the University of Chicago approximately a year. Mr. Robinson has been appointed art instructor at Bexley High school.

In the commencement address Dean Donald P. Cottrell of the Ohio State university college of education described United States occupation of Germany as one of the most important testing grounds for American professions of democratic ideals. And so far, he told 972 summer graduates, the job isn't going too well.

Dean Cottrell recently returned after several months spent in Germany as a consultant to the war department on reeducation problems in German universities.

FINALS IN FAIR JUDGING SET

Exhibition Windup Nears; Upper Sandusky Woman Wins in Cattle Show.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29—Finals of judging events, awards to junior fair competitors and the Red Poll cattle sale marked the last day of the 93rd Ohio state fair before the state's equine aristocracy parade in the horse show finals.

More than 60,000 persons were on the grounds for Governor's day yesterday and Rodney, the big Carolina colt that captured one heat of the 1947 Hambletonian, carried away the Governor's trophy by taking the stake race in straight heats.

Today was named Press day and a special luncheon at the horticulture and agriculture building was presided over by Orrin R. Taylor, publisher of the Archbold, O., Buckeye.

Agriculture Director Frank N. Farnsworth and Fair Manager Edwin J. Bath extended greetings for the state.

Sandusky Mare Wins

The mare, Betty, owned by W. G. Harkness and Son of Sandusky, O., swept yesterday's honors in the national Belgian show. She was named grand champion, best mare bred-and-owned in Ohio, and best mare five years old or more. The harness entry, Victory, was named reserve grand champion and junior champion mare.

Janet Farceur, Walter Cress Farms, Northville, Mich., won the senior championship, was judged best mare nursing a foal, and best mare three years old and under four.

Honors as the healthiest boy and girl in Ohio 4-H clubs yesterday went to Betty Jean Riddle of Orient, and Roger Conklin of Xenia. Both are high school graduates.

Two slight mishaps caused some consternation during Governor's day.

A pot of bean soup exploded at a concession and burned Stella Herrolit of Plain City and Louise Hill of Orient.

Horse Leaps Gate

During the horse show, His Nibs, a jumper ridden by Sally Richardson of Wyoming, O., leaped the gate leading to the stables. Fair officials said neither the rider nor persons near the gate were injured in the unscheduled jump. His Nibs was entered in the Corinthian hunter class.

Horse show winners included Beau Val, owned by Max O. Obonham of Indianapolis, judged best green hunter ridden by a lady; Request, Sterling Smith of Ravenna, won the jumping event; Lovely Lady, William Curran, Maumee, O., the three-gaited event for mares and geldings over 14-2.

American Bountiee, Mrs. David Davies, Columbus, won the five gaited stake for fine harness; Windy Hill Spiteful, Mrs. Fred R. Beasley, Athens, the pony not exceeding 14 hands driven by a lady.

Saniteer, Bryn Du Farm, Granville, O., Corinthian hunters; and Mr. Chips, Sterling Smith, Ravenna, were the best handy jumpers.

In cattle judging yesterday, awards included:

Nine in the Hereford class to C. A. Smith of Chester, W. Va.; four in the polled Shorthorn classes to Janesway Farms of Chillicothe, O.; two in the Shorthorn Class to O. W. House of Washington C. H.; five in the Hereford classes to Bea Mar farms of Washington C. H.; and one in the Hereford classes to Alice Leighty of Upper Sandusky.

"I agree with the Legion's stand on universal service, but to be effective and not waste precious time and perhaps the lives of young men, training must be accompanied by a mobilization of America—military, economic and spiritual," Baruch said.

Kenneth C. Royall, newly designated secretary of the Army, told the convention delegates that "the men of the new Army and Navy and Air Force come from good homes."

"We are selecting not much more than 50 per cent of the men who offer themselves for enlistment," Royall said. "We are choosing with care choosing men of character and ability, men with good records."

Field Marshal Viscount Harold Alexander, governor general of Canada, said difficulties in achieving peace should not give way to alarm or discouragement.

"For after all," he said, "history teaches us that on the conclusion of all great wars there are serious differences of opinion on all matters connected with peace and its many intricate problems."

Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor and an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said on his arrival yesterday that congress should meet in special session in November to consider Europe's relief needs.

"We need to do something real to stop communism in Europe," Stassen said during an interview.

Report Strikers Find Other Work Here

Approximately 70 per cent of the membership of Local 750 of the UAW (CIO) representing employes at the McMillen Feed Mills have other jobs, Joseph Stafford, president of the local union reported today.

Stafford said he is finding jobs as quickly as possible for the union members idle for the last eight days in a contract dispute with the company. These jobs will not interfere with the union's plan for picket duty, Stafford added.

A kitchen has been in operation since Tuesday to serve pickets at the company plant, he said.

SPECIAL ENVOY TO AIR RUMORED GREEK TIFF

Will Settle Question of Authority of 2 U. S. Officials.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 — A top state department policy official headed for Greece today to straighten out a conflict of authority—if such a conflict exists between Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh and Dwight Griswold, head of the American aid mission.

Loy Henderson, chief of the department's division of Near East affairs, left by plane following reports from Athens that MacVeagh and Griswold were not in complete accord concerning the Greek cabinet crisis.

Athens dispatches quoted Griswold, former Nebraska governor, as saying he did not believe there was a "basic disagreement" and that he and MacVeagh really see eye to eye on their goals.

Henderson's departure last night was disclosed in a formal state department announcement which said only that he will consult with both officials and return shortly to give a first hand report on all aspects of the current situation in Greece" to acting Secretary Robert A. Lovett.

Ohioan Commits Suicide By Plunging from Liner

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, Aug. 29 — The Marine Swallow, arriving yesterday, reported a passenger who gave the name of Harry Storrin, 38, Cincinnati, O. had plunged overboard the second day out of San Francisco and was lost.

The liner's officials said two passeners on the second deck saw him come up from the third class deck below, walk over to a lifeboat on the starboard side and plunge into the sea.

The big liner heeled over and its searchlights played across the choppy waters, but no trace of the man was found.

On the passenger list they found opposite his name, these words: "Occupation, salesman. Destination, none."

Radio in Car Tells Woman She Was Exposed To Rabies

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Aug. 29 — Mrs. Louis E. Dubuque, Cincinnati housewife who left on a vacation last Saturday unaware she had been exposed to rabies through a cat bite, reported at General hospital yesterday for the first Pasteur treatment—after learning of her plight via an automobile radio.

In a radio broadcast late Tuesday, Cincinnati police asked officers in Ohio, West Virginia and Virginia to help locate Mr. and Mrs. Dubuque, reported on a vacation motor trip, to advise her that a cat which bit her on the heel two weeks ago had died of rabies.

At the hospital, the husband, a manufacturers' agent, said they first learned of the police search early yesterday afternoon at Hillsboro, O., when he tuned the automobile radio to a Cincinnati station and heard a report that the Dubuques were believed to be near Virginia Beach, Va.

The husband said he was driving leisurely toward Cincinnati when he turned on the radio "but after recovering from the shock, stepped on the gas and made straight for General hospital."

Mrs. Dubuque has shown no indication that she suffered an infected bite, the husband said, adding that he and his wife felt confident the treatment was started in time.

The Dubuque children, Ora Lee, 8, and Denise, 5, who handled the cat, a family pet, also will take Pasteur treatment as a precaution.

The association and the Washington board were accused in indictments returned by a federal grand jury Wednesday of conspiring to fix commission rates on property transactions in the District of Columbia, thus eliminating competition among real estate dealers here.

The justice department also filed a civil anti-trust suit asking the court to hold that any provisions of the constitution and by-laws for uniform commission fees are a violation of the Sherman act. This suit named as defendant Nelson, the two real estate organizations and 15 officers and members of the Washington board.

Spain's Top Matador Killed in Bull Fight

By The Associated Press

LINARES, Spain, Aug. 29 — Manuel Rodriguez, better known as Manolete, the leading matador of the bullfighting world, died early today of traumatic shock resulting from wounds suffered when he was gored by a bull in the Linares ring yesterday afternoon.

The tall, slender, taciturn bullfighter, a son and a grandson of bull fighters, had reached at 30 a pinnacle of popularity which enabled him to gain as much as 250,000 pesetas ($25,000) for an afternoon in the ring. He was a native of Cordoba. His mother and four sisters survive.

Death was attributed to shock induced by a six inch wound in his right groin. Despite the pain and loss of blood he killed the bull before being carried from the ring and was awarded the animal's two ears, the highest praise a torero can win.

STUDY RAILWAY UNION DEMANDS

Arbitration Board Meets To Weigh Requests for Increased Pay.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—A six-man board of arbitration met privately today to start preparing findings on the demands of 17 unions of nearly 1,000,000 non-operating employes for a 20 cents an hour wage increase from the nation's railroads.

Before the hearing which began Aug. 4 and ended yesterday, the unions and the carriers agreed that the findings of the arbitrators would be binding on both parties.

Final arguments in support of the employes' demands were presented by Lester P. Schoene, attorney for the brotherhoods, who urged that the arbitrators not trim in any way the original 20 cents demand.

Schoene termed the demands "modest" and asserted that they were drafted at a time when it appeared that there might be some relief from high living costs for the nation's workingmen. Since then, he said, "developments have indicated the requests was far too low."

E. H. Burgess, counsel for the railroads' joint wage committee, told the board at the closing session yesterday that the million men had received two wage increases in the last year and the 20 cent additional increase would boost rail payrolls $566,000,000 annually.

The brotherhoods asked that the increase be made retroactive to April 25, which was 30 days after the request for a wage change was filed with the 131 class one lines participating in the arbitration.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 29—The five big railroad unions are planning a drive for increased wages to "counter spiralling prices," according to President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (Ind.).

Whitney, here for the New England convention of his organization, said in an interview that representatives of the brotherhoods would meet in Cleveland, Sept. 8 to complete plans for the concerted pay hike campaign.

Asked if he would support President Truman for reelection next year, he referred to a statement he made last month that there was "No candidate for president who has been mentioned by the Republicans that labor could support."

Whitney denounced G.O.P. leaders as "brazenly determined to carry forward the program of big business."

Peaches Browning Stars In 3-Way Divorce Suit

By The Associated Press

BURLINGAME, Calif., Aug. 29 —Frances (Peaches) Heenan Browning Hynes Civelli Willson is suing for divorce from husband No. 4, while his annulment suit still is pending and while husband No. 3 is suing Peaches for divorce.

In her complaint, filed in San Mateo county superior court, the former girl bride of Edward W. (Daddy) Browning asks a divorce from Ralph Norman Willson. She married Willson of Columbus, O., in Reno in 1946.

Still pending is Willson's suit for annulment; he contends her Reno divorce from husband No. 3, Joseph S. Civella, San Francisco department store executive, was invalid.

Pending, too, is Civelli's divorce suit in San Mateo county. He, too, alleges her Reno divorce was not valid and that Peaches' marriage to Willson was illegal.

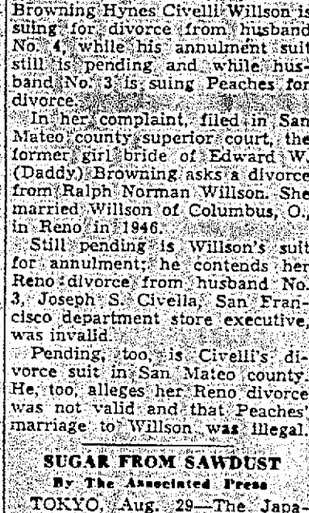
NOMINATED BY AUXILIARY

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Mrs. Lee William Hutton of Excelsior, Minn., was nominated today as the 1948 president of the American Legion auxiliary. She is unopposed.



OUT IN ECUADOR. Ousted as president of Ecuador in a bloodless "single shot" revolution is Dr. Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra (above). Assuming complete control of the government is Col. Carlos Mancheno, who allegedly led the revolution after Ibarra tried to remove him as defense minister.

IT'S A HARD LIFE—A day at the Illinois state fair at Springfield proved almost too much for these two tots. Brother is fast asleep, and from the looks of things sister will soon join him in dreamland.

MISSING IN FINLAND. Two American students, one of them Anne Blumenfeld, 20, of San Rafael, Calif., and an artist have disappeared mysteriously near the Soviet defense zone west of Helsinki, Finland, while sailing in a 30-foot boat. Miss Blumenfeld, pictured is the daughter of a San Francisco theater man and went overseas in January as an exchange art student.

JAP TO HANG FOR DEATHS OF 42 ALLIED PRISONERS

Springfield Man Included in List of Camp Victims.

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 29 — One Japanese was sentenced to be hanged and two others drew long prison terms today for contributing to the deaths of 42 Allied prisoners of war at Mitsushima prison camp.

A military commission sentenced Sgt. Major Masanobu Michishita to hang for contributing to the deaths of all 42 by beatings and compelling sick prisoners to perform hard labor.

Civilian guard Mineo Nopima, known as "Bug Speedo," drew life for contributing to the deaths of 28 prisoners by beatings and collective punishments. Shichinobu Shichino was given 25 years for failing as medical sergeant to restrain those under him from forcing sick prisoners to work.

The prisoners who died included Roger C. Derr of Springfield, O.

Today's Prices Stand At New Postwar High

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—Prices soared to a new postwar high today. Prospects were they will go still higher unless some one or something suddenly slams on the brakes.

The labor department reported that wholesale commodity prices rose another 0.3 points last week, bringing them to a new high of 155.5 per cent of the basic 1926 average.

At the same time agriculture department experts said all hope was gone that the corn crop can meet domestic needs. This, they said, inevitably means less meat and higher prices next spring and summer.

Dutch Accept Offer Of UN War Mediation

By The Associated Press

THE HAGUE, Aug. 29—The Netherlands government announced today it would accept "the general tendency" of United Nations security council resolutions on Indonesia.

The council voted Tuesday to extend its good offices and set up a council committee to investigate the differences between the Dutch and the Indonesian republic.

FOUR-POWER KOREAN CONFERENCE ASKED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—The United States called today for a four-power conference to speed Korean independence.

The request was made in a new note to Moscow saying that the present deadlock on a joint Russian-American commission to arrange for a provisional government can not, in this country's opinion, continue.

The United States government can not in good conscience be a party to any such delay in the fulfillment of its commitment to Korean independence and proposes that the four powers adhering to the Moscow agreement meet to consider how that agreement may be speedily carried out," the note said.

It suggested that conversations on the problem begin Sept. 8. Nations particularly in the Moscow conference on Korea were the United States, Britain, Russia and China.

Simultaneously, the state department disclosed a summary of proposals by this country for Korea's future.

They included the American suggestion for a general Korean election which has been rejected by Russia.

The U. S. note said the Soviet claim that it has the right to exclude some Korean political parties from participating in the decisions on Korea's future is "contrary to the democratic principle of freedom of opinion."

"IKE" SEES NO WAR NEARING

Let Enemies Know Conflict Would Be Fought on Their Soil, He Adds.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, told American Legionnaires today he saw no immediate threat of a global war but added that United States armed forces should be strong enough to make an aggressor realize war would likely be fought over his territory.

The wartime leader of Allied armies said that "no great nation is today in position deliberately to provoke a long and exhausting conflict with any hope of gain."

Eisenhower spoke to massed thousands of Legionnaires at the second session of their 29th annual convention in the 71st Regiment armory.

2 Others Speak

Two other of the nation's top military men, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and General Carl A. Spaatz, commanding general of the Army air force, also were speakers.

Eisenhower said that "as long as deliberate aggression against the rights of free men and the existence of free government may be a part of the international picture, we must be prepared for whatever this may finally mean to us."

He declared "I do not want to be understood as seeing a global war as an immediate threat" and added:

"We just so gird ourselves that a predatory aggressor will be aware of the risks he runs and will realize, should he provoke war, it will likely be fought over his territory."

Praises Unification

Unification of the armed forces, Eisenhower said, provides flexibility to meet changing conditions of warfare.

He said the national military establishment, charged with overall supervision of the new defense setup, makes possible the organization of a comprehensive civil defense, something that assumes greater importance day by day, as time brings nearer the possibility of quick, destructive blows against our cities and production centers.

The Army chief of staff said that "the world comprises two great camps, grouped on the one side around dictatorships which subject the individual to absolute control, and on the other, democracy which provides him a free and unlimited horizon."

"In my view," he said, "conflicting political theories can exist peacefully in the same world provided there is no deliberate effort on the part of either to engage in unjust coercion or unwarranted interference against the other."

Manpower Needed

The nation needs a "reservoir of trained manpower," Eisenhower said, and termed universal military training "the least burdensome and the most equitable solution yet suggested."

Universal military training received the endorsement yesterday of both President Truman and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Sentenced to 10 Months For Cruelty to GI Pow's

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Harold E. Hirshberg, 29, chief Navy signalman convicted of striking two fellow prisoners of war of the Japanese, has been sentenced to serve 10 months at the U. S. naval retraining command at Norfolk, Va., and then to be dishonorably discharged from the Navy, the Navy announced today.

SERVICES SCHEDULED

Revival services will open at the Church of God at 581 Bellefontaine avenue Sunday night, with Rev. Zella Earhart of Green Camp as the evangelist. The meetings will continue at least two weeks, it was stated, and there will be special music and singing each night. A special service of divine healing will be held each Thursday night at the church of which Rev. Nelson Reed is pastor.

REENACT RESCUE. Holding his sister, Loraine, out of the window from which he dropped her during a fire, Edward Dennis, 19, of Oakland, Calif., reenacts the 3-year-old child's rescue. Below stands Roy Holland, a one-armed ice-cream vendor, who caught the girl.

New High-Speed Plane Designed, Paper Says

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29—The Columbus Dispatch said today Curtiss-Wright Corp. had nearly completed construction of a twin-jet airplane designed to travel considerably faster than the speed of sound.

The newspaper declared the plane would be dismantled and shipped to Muroc Dry Lake, Calif., where the Army Air Forces does much of its testing for flights.

Officials of the Curtiss-Wright plant in Columbus declined to comment on the story.

SHRINE DRAWS MANY

CAREY, Aug. 26—Twelve thousand post cards were mailed from the Carey Postoffice during Pilgrimage week at the Shrine of Our Lady of Consolation, Aug. 10 to 17. The cards were addressed to every state in the Union, to Canada and to many European countries. There were 6 special trains and 150 chartered buses on the two great days, besides thousands of private autos that brought the great throngs of people to this famed Shrine.

FOUR MINOR TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS REPORTED

Little Damage Caused by Auto Mishaps in City.

Four minor automobile accidents were reported by police today. At 3:25 a. m. Thursday a car driven by Robert N. Seaburn of 630 Herman street, west on West Center at Prospect street figured in a collision with an auto driven by Mrs. Fern Avery of Wilshire. O. Mrs. Avery was making a left turn. Damage to the two cars was slight, police reported.

Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock a car driven by Alvin L. Lindley of near Richwood struck a parked car belonging to Otis Tuttle of 488 Osgood street. The accident occurred near the intersection of Main and Center streets. A fender and tire were damaged on the Lindley auto and the front end and bumper of the parked car.

Another accident at Main and Center streets happened at 11:40 a. m. Thursday. A car driven by Millard K. Moreland of near Marion collided with an auto driven by Charles Clark of Sandusky. Only minor damage to the fender of the Moreland car was reported by police.

At 10:58 Thursday night a car driven by Earle C. Johnson of 380 Monroe street collided with another driven by Charles C. Kibler of 273 Uncapher avenue. The accident occurred on Leader street at an alley near the railroad viaduct. The fenders of both autos were damaged slightly, police reported.

Eagles Auxiliary Arranges Program

At a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Buckeye Aerie No. 337, F. O. Eagles, Thursday night in the club rooms, plans were made for the Founder's Day program in honor of the charter members to be held at the next meeting. The entertainment for the event will be in charge of Mrs. Thelma Hesson.

A handkerchief shower which was to have been held last night for Mrs. O. W. Miller of Lakeview, O., the first president of the auxiliary, was postponed as Mrs. Miller was unable to be present. It will be held at the next meeting when election of a drill team captain will also be held. The attendance award was won by Mrs. Estelle Brady. A social hour followed and refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Louise Felter, chairman.

SUGAR HEIR, MATE PAY FINES. In Los Angeles, John D. Spreckles III, 38-year-old sugar heir, and wife leave court after paying $25 in fines. The couple was arrested and charged with drunkenness when found slugging out a domestic difference on Santa Monica boulevard.

Miss Opal M. Skinner Married at Troy

Special to The Star

PROSPECT, Aug. 26—Mr. and Mrs. William G. Skinner of Prospect are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Opal Marie to Jack E. Griffith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Griffith of Troy, Ohio.

The double ring ceremony was read Wednesday, Aug. 6, 1947 at 7:30 p. m. in the parsonage of Rev. Lester R. Schlechty, pastor of the Congregational Christian church of Troy.

For her wedding the bride chose a royal blue dress with which she wore white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. She was attended by two of her sisters, Miss Ruth Evelyn Skinner, who wore a black dress and black accessories; and Miss Wilma June Skinner who wore a brown and green dress with brown accessories. Both were corsages of pink carnations.

Mr. Marvel Henderson of Troy, a friend of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Radnor High school and is employed at Moraine Products, Dayton, Ohio. The bridegroom served several months in the South Pacific Theater of War and is now employed at Leico Products in Dayton.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home at 30 Livingston Ave., Dayton.

Truman Announces 6 Defense Appointments

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—President Truman today named Maj. Gen. William H. Draper Jr., of Scarsdale, N. Y., as undersecretary of war and announced his choice of five others for key positions in the new unified defense setup.

Draper, now in Washington as Gen. Lucius Clay's representative at the conference with the British on Ruhr coal, was given a recess appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Kenneth Royall to secretary of war.

California Indians made fish hooks of bone and abalone shells before the white man came.

SPEED FLIERS EYE DEADLINE

3 Dozen Have Yet To Qualify with 5 P. M. Today Set as Time Limit.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 29 — About three dozen race pilots looked nervously at the skies today and hoped the weather would remain clear during the few hours left to qualify for the week-end's speed program and $125,000 in prize money.

Despite repeated warning that today's 5 p. m. deadline for qualifying flights would stand, more than half of the pilots failed to run the rectangular, pylon-marked courses during the first four days. Now overcast skies could complicate the preliminaries of the National Air Races.

Fourteen of the 25 planes on hand for the $40,000 300-mile Thompson trophy classic still must try for a place among the fastest 12 which will start Monday afternoon. None of the eight who turned the 15-mile course yesterday came close to the 399.9 mph average recorded by Paul Penrose of North Hollywood, Calif. on Wednesday. Penrose's speed is almost 19 miles slower than last year's leading qualifier, but 17 miles faster than the 1946 winning time.

Leads Field

In the Halle trophy race, restricted to AT-6 Texan advanced trainer planes, Margarete McGrath of San Francisco turned the course at 223.3 miles an hour yesterday to lead the field by 10 miles an hour and mark up a new high for qualification in that event. Grace Harms of Kansas City, Mo., rated second with 213.4 mph.

Other women qualifiers yesterday were Betty Clark of Denver, with 212 mph, Betty Skelton of Tampa, Fla., with 199.1 mph and Dot Lemon of Oklahoma City with 198.9 mph.

Seven women are scheduled to try to qualify today, although lack of time indicated it was unlikely all would. Only the fastest eight of the 13 entries will start in the $5,000 race at 75 miles around a 15-mile course.

Yesterday's Flights

Yesterday's qualifying flights for the Thompson trophy included

J. L. Ziegler of Kenmore, N. Y., in a Curtiss XP-40-1, 358.1 mph.

Ken Knight of Dallas, Tex., in a P-63 Kingcobra, 349 mph.

Charles C. Walling Jr., of Houston, Tex., in a P-38 Lightning, 352.4 mph.

Steven Beville of Hammond, Ind., in a P-51 Mustang, 368.8 mph.

Woody Edmondson of Lynchburg, Va., in a P-51, 373.9 mph.

R. G. Puckett of Olaine, Kas., in a Goodyear-built Corsair, 371.4 mph.

William Bour of Cleveland in a P-62, 366.6 mph.

T. P. Mathews of Monterey, Calif., flying a P-38, averaged only 269.2 an hour, falling 55 miles short of the minimum speed needed to enter the race. However, he apparently intends to fly only the Sohio, which is limited to P-38's, on Sunday, and to let Jimmy De Santo, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Atlanta, Ga., try to qualify the plane for the Thompson. De Santo lost his plane when it failed in flight Monday.

The annual racing program will get under way for cash and keeps early Saturday, with the takeoff of 13 planes at Van Nuys, Calif., for the Bendix dash and $25,000 in prizes. Some contestants have indicated they expect to cover the 2,050 mile route to Cleveland in about four hours don't DO that!

THE MOUNTAIN'S MOVE. Frank S. Leavitt (Man Mountain Dean), American Legion sergeant-at-arms from Buford, Ga., carries Mrs. E. Meade Wilson, of Mulberry, Fla., to her seat in Madison Square Garden in a bit of fun before the American Legion's 29th annual convention got off to its official start in New York City.

DON'T INSIST. . . . It's embarrassing to try to force a drink or second helping on a guest who doesn't want it.

Kansan Builds Park So He Can "Watch The Kids Play Ball"

By The United Press

OVERLAND PARK, Kan.—Christian G. Segner, 62, is a man who "likes to watch the kids play ball."

He built a stadium complete with lights, a grandstand seating 700 persons, dressing rooms and a soda pop stand.

Since the park opened it's been in operation every night except Saturday.

Segner, who lives a block away from the stadium, says he just wanted to give the kids a place to play.

He has been a baseball lover all his life. Last year, as he puts it, "I decided it was time to do some of the things I'd really wanted to do. I figured that even if I was too old to play, at least I could give these youngsters a decent place to play."

Segner purchased seven acres and cleaned them off. The whole affair, he said, has cost him about $15,000.

Occasionally he fills in as an umpire. But the high point comes when a youthful team manager gives him the nod to take over the pitcher's mound.

On those nights, Segner says, "I'm breaking even on the deal."

"Burglar Alarm" Traps Bolts of Lightning

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH — A trap has been set to capture bolts of lightning. The methods used are similar to those employed in automatic burglar alarms.

A trap, consisting of a large metal mast, is placed in some exposed spot. When lightning strikes, the bolt is shuttled through protective devices which test its efficiency.

The lightning takes its own picture with an automatic camera and leaves "fingerprints" on fulchronographs.

Engineers now can estimate the number of times lightning will strike in the same place, and what your chances are of being struck. Pittsburgh's Cathedral of Learning is hit on the average of twice a year, but an individual has only one chance in 365 thousand of being struck.

84 Building Permits Issued With Value of $121,870 in July

Eighty-four building permits totaling $121,870 for new and remodeled buildings were taken out during the month of July, according to reports from Mrs. Mayme Gorton, city clerk. The highest permit issued was for $30,000 to George Alber who is rebuilding the Marion Plant Life Fertilizer plant which was destroyed by fire last May.

July's permits show a considerable increase over the amount issued in June when 52 permits were issued for $97,045 of improvements.

Labor Leader Speaks To Crestline Kiwanis

CRESTLINE, Aug. 29—R. W. Beverly of Marion, district representative for the International Association of Machinists of the American Federation of Labor, spoke to members of the Crestline Kiwanis club at its meeting Wednesday noon.

He spoke on Labor Problems and said, that the organization of the International Association of Machinists was organized in 1888 and have 2,000 local unions with one million members enrolled. Cooperation between labor and management favored the union shop, he said.

Mr. Beverly also spoke briefly of the Taft-Hartley law which the Gallup "box score" disclosed that 38 per cent disapprove of the law, as against 33 per cent who approve and 26 per cent who either qualified their answers or held no opinion.

Cubs Split with Dayton as Attendance Figure Shoots Above '46 Mar

Total of 76,565 Have Passed Through Lincoln Park Turnstile

By DON C. BURTON

The crowd of 1,272 which witnessed the twin bill at Lincoln park last night ran the total paid attendance for the year to 76,565 which surpassed the record of last year which was slightly over 76,000.

The Cubs won the seven-inning curtain raiser, 2-1, on a two-run homer by Dwight Maxhimer and the four-hit pitching of Frank Smith.

Two perfect throws by Dayton outfielders prevented the Cubs from tying the score in the regulation nightcap which the locals lost, 8 to 6.

Makes Triple Play

One of the throws resulted in the third triple play of the season in the Ohio State league. With the score 6-5 in favor of the Indians the two throws nipped the tying run. The first came in the sixth inning when a perfect peg by Del Leslie from left field nipped John Smith trying to score from second base following a single by Wally Rasmussen. The three-ply killing came in the Marion eighth. With Roy Hollingshead on third and Smith on first with none out, Dwight Maxhimer hit a fly to center. Gil Goldstone, after making the catch, threw a perfect strike to the catcher to double Roy trying to score the important run. Filkins, the catcher, then pegged to Marty Sebastian catching Smith attempting to advance on the play. The score and the situation at the time of both throws demanded that the runner try for the plate. Only a seldom-made perfect throw could get them but both did.

Wins 7th Game

The only run the Indians got off Frank Smith in the first game came with two out in the seventh round following a double by Gil Goldstone, former Springfielder outfielder, and an error by Gene Bobzean. In this game Frank Smith won his seventh game against six defeats. The lanky side-arm twirler allowed only four hits and issued only three walks while striking out five.

His opponent, Gene Starr, Dayton ace, allowed the Cubs five bingles including the four-ply swat by Maxhimer following a single by John Smith. Starr was removed for a pinch hitter in the fifth and his successor Reilly did not permit the Cubs to hit safely.

The Indians drew first blood in the second frame of the nightcap when Joe Abreu drove one of Bert Flamini's pitches over the left field wall.

The Cubs went ahead in the third with three runs. A single by Smith and free passes to Hollingshead and Nelson filled the bases which Wally Rasmussen cleared with a triple.

The locals grabbed a 5-1 lead with a pair of runs in the fourth. Singles by Jim Forbes and Flamini and a walk to Hollingshead filled the bases again. After John Smith flied out, Dwight Maxhimer hit a single which scored Forbes and Flamini.

The Indians got a trio of tallies in the fifth on doubles by Al Miller the pitcher and Joe Abreu, spliced with singles by Ken Paulus and Marty Sebastian. The Indians took the lead with two runs in the sixth on singles by Miller, Bob Micelotta and Sebastian, aided by a walk to Paulus.

Following a walk to Abreu in the ninth, Del Leslis hit an inside the park home run to give Dayton a total of eight for the game which a single run by the Cubs in the ninth could not overcome.

The Marion tally in the ninth came as a result of a walk to Rasmussen and singles by Bob Shuford and Jim Forbes. After Manager Burbrink, pinch hitting for Flamini, walked to fill the sacks Roy Hollingshead struckout to end the game.

Zanesville Makes Complete Sweep Of Muncie Series

By The Associated Press

The leading Zanesville Dodgers made a complete sweep of a three game series with Muncie, taking last night's game, 8-5. Southpaw Sandy Lambert chalked up his 21st win aganist seven defeats.

The Dodger victory was the 11th in succession at home and gave them a season's home record of 49 wins and 12 defeats.

Lambert ran his pace-setting strike-out string to 213.

Two men had perfect nights at the plate in the Richmond-Newark game which the Browns won, 8-5. Gene Main got three singles and two walks for Newark. Richmond's Regan had three singles and a triple.

Springfield hammered 19 hits off two Lima pitchers as the Giants rolled to a 15-2 victory. Rightfielder Frank Scally and Tom Green, first base, each homered with one aboard for the victors.

What's Bruin?

Umpire Bob Conrad tells an interesting tale of how he handled an irate fan in the Appalachian league in 1944. The leather-lung, a doctor in Johnson City, Tenn., became very bothersome when the umps called one against the home team. He challenged the arbiters that he could do better, although he had never been behind the plate.

Conrad arranged with the president of the league and the two managers to let the critical doctor work behind the plate between two teams that were in last place in the final days of the season in a game that meant nothing in the pennant race.

The Johnson City medic put on the blue and with all the pomp and dignity of an umpire went behind the plate. After two batters in the opening inning he called to the other two regular umpires who were on the bases, to "come and get this mask and wind pad quick, I've had enough of this."

After the incident the understanding doctor came to the umps in the dressing room and apologized for eveything he had ever said to an umpire. He began to appreciate the job the man in blue must do and became their friend instead of a critic.

* * *

Conrad was once one of the umpire school pupils of George Barr, famous National league arbiter. He said Barr told his students that many times they would see balls come in the middle of the strike zone and they would yell "ball." The former Appalachian and Cotton states league ump said he thought Barr was just trying to be funny. Since, he says, he has found it to be true. Why it happens is a human trait only the Creator can explain, all umpires say.

Revamped Concession Stand, New Lockers Included in Football Betterment Program

Benefits for Player and Spectator Planned in Booster Activities.

A revamped locker room and concession set-up designed to serve both the spectator and player to better advantage is one of the many significant improvements included in the Football Betterment Program sponsored jointly by the Harding High School Athletic association and the Marion Boosters club.

The following are among the more important changes made this summer in the arrangement of room space and in the general facilities of the permanent concrete stands on the west side of the Harding field:

►—Moving of the concession stand from the north to the south end of the stands.

►—Extension of the Harding team locker room by 12 feet by removing a partition which formerly divided this room from the old equipment room.

►—Setting up of a new, larger and better outfitted equipment room at the north end of the stand in the area formerly occupied by the concession stand.

►—Construction of two rooms at the extreme north end of the stand; one for an officials' dressing room and the other for a Harding coaches' office and dressing room.

Ample space for dressing and medical treatment has been provided by the lengthening of the Harding team locker room. The additional space made possible by removing the partition is expected to be used largely for medical purposes.

Larger hot water tanks are soon to be installed in the team shower rooms. Tentative plans call for doubling the shower capacity.

Perhaps the most beneficial improvement is the setting up of the new equipment room which measures approximately 30 feet square. This new arrangement provides several conveniences. First, the team managers no longer have to operate in cramped quarters. Second, the process of handing out and checking in equipment can be handled with greater ease.

The new equipment room already includes 10 new uniform drying racks, which were built by John Beer, industrial arts instructor at Central Junior High school. A special drying fan near the ceiling will be provided soon to make possible overnight drying service for uniforms placed on these new racks.

Equipment Racks Built

Mr. Beer is also in the final stages of constructing new permanent equipment racks. All equipment, including uniforms, shoes, helmets and the like, will be filed in these racks to greatly facilitate the checking out and in process.

The new officials' room measures 10 feet square while the adjoining coaches' quarters is 10 feet by 14 feet in size.

Another improvement was the spreading of crushed stone over the area immediately surrounding the stadium.

Preparations are now being made for the printing of 20,000 new style programs for all Harding home games this year. The eight-page programs will be supplemented by a center section resembling that on Ohio State football programs. With this center section, the spectator will have complete lineup information on both teams on one large page.

In "Betterment Program"

These many improvements are part and parcel of the Football Betterment Program, which has as its immediate objectives the sale of season tickets and the solicitation of private donations to pay for the new bleachers being constructed on the east side of the Harding field. These new-type bleachers will add 1,692 seats to the 2,076 capacity of the permanent stands on the west side.

Initial sale of season tickets at $5 for the six home games will be held at Harding stadium next Wednesday night, when a preview of the 1947 Harding team will be presented in an intrasquad scrimmage.

Although the construction of the new bleachers is an important factor, the Harding High School Athletic association and Marion Boosters club have projected plans for the Football Betterment Program into future seasons. The ultimate objective is the construction of another permanent concrete stand on the east side of the field. When this point is

NEWHOUSER SHOWS TEMPERAMENT; GETS $250 FINE FOR PAINS

Star Refuses To Leave Game After Manager Charges "Indifference."

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 29—Hal Newhouser, the Detroit Tigers' "problem child" of a half dozen years ago who outgrew surly temperament to become the top lefthanded pitcher in baseball, was back in the doghouse today following a new "incident" that cost the blond southpaw a $250 fine from Manager Steve O'Neill.

O'Neill, charging his $60,000 star with "indifference" as the Boston Red Sox combed him for seven hits and five runs in a single inning yesterday enroute to a 13-3 triumph over the Tigers, levied the fine when Newhouser flared at being removed from the game in the third inning.

NEWHOUSER
"A Bad Boy"

"I don't know "A Bad Boy" what got into him," O'Neill declared. "He simply wasn't going to leave the game and I had to go out there and take the ball away from him and make him go to the dugout.

"When Hal argued about it there wasn't anything left for me to do but fine him. It's the first time I've fined a player since I came to Detroit in 1943, but it won't be the last. Believe me, there's going to be more of this if these fellows aren't in there hustling like I know they should.

CLEVELAND BEATEN IN 12-INNING GAME

White Sox Dash Tribe Hopes To Take 4th Place.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 29 — The Cleveland Indians, struggling for five weeks to regain fourth place in the American league, had hoped the Chicago White Sox might prove a stepping stone.

But the Sox — and especially their big righthand hurler Joe Haynes—were a stumbling block to the Tribe's ambition last night.

Haynes pitched a nine-hitter over 12 innings for his 10th victory and singled home the winning marker in the last frame.

The 4-2 defeat cost the Tribe a chance to pass the idle Philadelphia Athletics and perch on the bottom rung of the loop's first division.

Bob Lemon matched tosses with Haynes through 11 innings, but Cass Michaels doubled in the 12th and Mike Tresh dropped a Texas leaguer into short right.

Ed Klieman then took the hill and Haynes sent his game-winning single over Lou Boudreau's head to score Michaels. Tresh came in later on Tod Wright's fly.

MIZE AIMS BIG BAT AT BABE RUTH'S 60 HOME RUNS RECORD

Gets 44th, 5 Games Ahead of Pace, in Giant Victory Over Cards.

By The Associated Press

Johnny Mize definitely is aiming his big bat at Babe Ruth's home run record of 60 and if the Brooklyn Dodgers or St. Louis Cardinals get in the way, it will be just too bad.

Mize has 44 to his credit counting his circuit clout yesterday which enabled the Giants to defeat the Cardinals for the second straight time, 6-5, and plummet the Redbirds down to seven games in back of the Dodgers. He needs 17 more to establish a new mark.

MIZE
Bearing Down

Mize currently is five games ahead of the pace Ruth set in his record breaking 1927 season.

The Dodgers gained a full game on the Redbirds by defeating the Cubs 6-2 at Ebbets field. They finished off Hank Wyse with four runs in the first inning and went on to win their first game from the Cubs in their last five meetings. Johnny Jorgensen, back at third base for the Brooks after a week's rest, drove in three of the runs with a bases-loaded double.

The third place Boston Braves moved within eight games of first and of second by taking both ends of a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds, 8-7 and 3-2, in Boston. The Braves had to go 16 innings to win the first game, then played only five and a half innings of the second game which was halted by darkness.

Schoolboy Rowe pitched the Philadelphia Phils into a virtual seventh place tie with Pittsburgh by shutting out the Pirtes, 7-0, in Philadelphia. The Pirates are ahead by two percentage points.

O.S.U. Gridders To Stay At Magnetic Springs

Special to The Star

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29—For the better part of 30 years, Ohio State university's football squads have been quartered in country clubs of Columbus on the night before a home game. Precedent will be broken this season, however, when the Bucks will spend five Friday nights at the Park Hotel in Magnetic Springs, 33 miles north of Columbus. On the night before the Illinois game Nov. 15, the squad will be housed on the top floor of the Deshler Hotel.

The squad will be taken to Magnetic Springs late Friday afternoon and returned to the stadium Saturday noon. Other western conference schools have spent pre-game nights at Magnetic Springs in previous years.

Marion Pacer Wins Fair Race

Handbook Takes 2-Year-Old Event To Give Chuck England First Dual Victory.

Handbook, the two-year-old bay colt owned by Chuck England and the C. O. Worland trophy at the state fair yesterday, brought Parlay Acres farm of Marion the distinction of having for the first time in the history of the Ohio State Fair taken both the two-year-old and two-year-old events.

The chestnut filly Hallelujah, the Director of Agriculture trophy in the taree-year-old event at the fair Wednesday afternoon was driven by Walter Pancake who has trained the horses for the Parlay Acres farm and handled them in a total of six straight victories in the three events in the county fair this year.

The Handbook colt took the first heat in the time of 2 09 6 but dropped the decision to Bud Mite by a nose after the latter horse however finished fourth in the initial heat, the Handbook the $1,500 purse in the stake race.

The Handbook was purchased as a yearling last fall at Chicago by Chuck England and in his first season as a two-year-old won six straight stake races paralleling the record compiled by Hallelujah this season.

The Parlay acres two-year-old pacer has been driven by Dismukes in all heats, has registered a win at Plain City Urbana, Hilliard, London, Marion in addition to the state fair race, turning in a 2:09 flat at Urbana, considered by track officials as exceptional for a two-year-old over the mile course.

Chuck England will seek additional laurels next week at the Indiana state fair when Handbook will be entered in the Fox Stake for two-year-olds for a $7,000 purse. Other events this pacer which the Marion horse will be entered are the $6,500 stake race at the Hamilton county fair at Carthage and the $5,000 stake at the Delaware county fair.

COMMERCIAL STEEL WINS SOFTBALL LOOP

Beats Pollak, 2-1, To Take Second Round Crown.

The Commercial Steel softball team clinched the second round crown of the Industrial league last night overcoming Pollak Steelers, 2-1.

Commercial Steel, undefeated in 14 league starts, got its only scare of the league season in this contest. Pollak outhit the champs 4-3, but Scott and Myers of Commercial put doubles together for the winning run in the second. Catcher Obenour of Pollak got two of the team's hits and Scott got two of Commercial's three.

The win made Commercial the only city team assured of starting in the forthcoming Little World Series Championships in the Commercial league and Sunday school loop are yet to be decided.

Other games last night saw Osgood trampling General Excavator, 12-3. Ohio Public Service taking a default from Quaker Oats, and Ohio Associated Telephone beating McMillen Feeds 13-5. In the latter tilt Wintersteller hit two home runs and Otto one for the Telephone squad.

SMITTY'S TRIUMPH, COOLER LOSES IN PROSPECT TOURNEY

All-Stars Take Richwood, 3-2; Ashland Whips Universal 4 to 1.

One local entry in the softball tournament now in progress at Prospect survived its first round start last night, while the other was booted from the proceedings.

Smitty's All-Stars downed Richwood V. F. W., 3-2 in 12 innings, Lefty Culver's heads up baserunning giving them their winning counter.

Universal Cooler bowed to the well oiled Strine Service machine of Ashland, 4-1, Ashland pitcher Plank allowing only one hit.

An estimated 1,200 persons turned out for the contests. Features of the first game were, besides Culver's scoring on an overthrow at second, the long home run hit by Plank and the brilliant flycatching of Bob Wintersteller in left field. He was credited with 10 putouts, four of them definite cheer provokers.

Pitcher Plank of Ashland helped his cause along with a two-run homer in the seventh inning. Atkinson was the only U. C. player to get a hit, which came after an error and sacrifice to give Cooler their lone tally.

Smitty's and Strine meet in quarter-finals Tuesday night.

Action tonight will pit Baldridge Tires of Upper Sandusky against Post 72 of Mansfield at 8:15 and Tong Implement of Waldo against Binegar Appliance of Columbus in the second game.

County Golf Tournament Entries Pour In

Entries in the annual Marion county golf tournament, which will be held at the Mar-O-Del golf course this year are rolling in, Don Preuninger, tourney chairman said today. The event will start Tuesday.

Preuninger stated that the meet will be set up in four flights and that winners and runners-up in all flights will be awarded prizes. The many prizes which have been donated by Marion business establishments for awards to the golfers are now on display at Anson Pickerel's.

Deadline for entering the tournament is Tuesday. Entry can be made by filling in the accompanying entry blank and sending it to the Y. M. C. A. or to the Mar-O-Del or Country club golf courses.

reached, the semi-permanent bleachers now being built will be moved to the north end of the field to round out an almost perfect horseshoe.

Booster Club Purposes

► The Marion Boosters club, whose loan of $8,000 to the Harding High School Athletic association paved the way for the construction of the $10,000 bleachers, was formed only a little over a year ago. Original membership was about 40 but now the club has upwards of 100 members. The self-announced aims of this organization are to provide more adequate facilities for local high school athletics, to promote public interest and cooperation in such athletics, and, as a natural result of the first two, to make Marion schoolboy athletes feel that their efforts are being appreciated by the public.

John Pickerel is president of the Boosters club, Robert LaMarche is vice president, and Jack Danner is secretary-treasurer.

U. S. Land of Plenty To English Visitor

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug 29—Announcement of new drastic cuts by the British government in food and other rationed items has caused an Upper Sandusky visitor, Mrs Alice Hare, of Leeds, Yorkshire, England, to decide to stay here as long as her visitor's visa will permit.

Mrs. Hare arrived here a week ago to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr and Mrs. Thomas Stephan, who were married while Mr. Stephan was stationed in England while serving with the armed forces.

Mrs. Hare says she likes Upper Sandusky and the United States She was particularly impressed by the plenty of everything in the stores In England, she added, there is a shortage of everything.

Convention Plans Set For Galion Church

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 29—Committee chairmen were named to have charge of food for the State Christian Endeavor convention which is being held at First Reformed church, here, over the weekend, when members of the Dorcas society met at the church Wednesday afternoon. The society voted to donate $200 to the church kitchen fund.

A nominating committee, Mrs. Harold Pace, Mrs. Blanche Eichhorn and Mrs. David Bauer, was appointed by the president. The group also heard a report of the conference at Winona Lake, Ind., given by Mrs. R. R. Elliker Hostesses were Mrs Lee Miller, Miss Katherine King, Mrs Vernon Long, Miss Lilly Mueller, Mrs. Erwin Mulberg, Mrs Allen Myers, Mrs Frank Newman and Mrs. Otis Parks.

The charter was draped for the late Mrs J J. Bittner and Mrs. Paul Metzger when the regular meeting of the Women's Relief Corps was held Tuesday evening at the Galion armory. Announcement was made of the district convention to be held in Mansfield in October. Relief work was estimated at $14 for the past two weeks. Miss Mayme Baldinger presided for business, and the social hours were in charge of Mrs Carl Schnegelsberger and her committee.

LARGE DAIRY BARN BURNS IN DELAWARE COUNTY

$30,000 Loss Estimated in Fire Near Sunbury.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Aug. 29 — Fire swept through the dairy barn on the Fairland farm near Sunbury Wednesday at 5 p. m. burning the barn to the ground and destroying a quantity of valuable equipment.

The fire was the second at the Russell W. Miller farm in the last 10 years and damage caused by each was estimated at $30,000. Cause of the blaze was unknown. The fire started while Miller was blowing bedding into the lower part of the barn.

The entire top of the building was ablaze within two minutes and the Miller family, assisted by motorists who stopped to help, saved all the livestock and a small portion of the equipment

Because of a ruling against the Sunbury fire department going outside the corporation, no attempt was made to stop the fire The department had been called but sent no equipment. The Miller farm is on the Sunbury corporation line, with part of the farm land in Sunbury. The barn was outside the limits.

The dairy barn was said to be the largest in the eastern part of the country and most of the equipment destroyed had been recently installed. The ruins and burning feed was still smouldering yesterday.

LEGAL NOTICE

Margaret Curran Locht, c/o Mrs. Nell Curran, South Jefferson Street, Huntington, Indiana, will take notice that on the 2nd day of April, 1947, the plaintiff, Dorothy I. Werley as administratrix of the estate of Anna T. Curran, deceased, filed her petition against her, among others, in the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, the same being Cause No. 16965 in said Court for the sale of real property owned by the decedent, Anna T. Curran, which real property is bounded and described as follows: Situated in the County of Marion, State of Ohio, and in the City of Marion, to-wit: Known as being part of lot number eight (8), (new number therefore being three hundred and thirty-five (335) in Sloan's Second Addition to the Village, now City of Marion, Ohio and bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at a point in the west line of Windsor Street, in said City, eighty (80) feet south of the southeast corner of lot heretofore sold and conveyed to George B. Curran, by deed dated July 3rd, 1906, recorded in Vol. 108, page 542, Deed Records of Marion County, Ohio; thence west on a line parallel with the south line of said George B. Curran's lot, to the west line of said lot number three hundred thirty-five (335); thence south along the west line of said lot number three hundred and thirty-five (335) one hundred and eighteen (118) feet, more or less, to the north line of land formerly owned by Sarah D. Wyatt; thence east along the north line of said Wyatt land to the West line of Windsor Street, thence North along the west line of Windsor Street, one hundred and eighteen (118) feet, more or less, to the place of beginning.

The prayer of said petition is for the sale of said real property to pay the debts of said decedent and a part of the relief prayed for is the barring of the defendant herein among others, from all right, title and interest in and to the aforementioned property and for other relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 15th day of October, 1947, or judgment will be rendered against her.

Dorothy I. Werley, Administratrix of the Estate of Anne T. Curran, Deceased.

IRREGULARITY RULES IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—A few special stocks exhibited quiet strength in today's dragging market but narrow irregularity ruled in most departments.

From the opening dealings were among the slowest of the past three years. The ticker tape frequently halted. Fractional advances had a trifle the best of the argument near the fourth hour.

Wall Street was all but deserted by customers who got a head start on the holiday.

Norfolk and Western pushed up several points along with Allied Chemical. Ahead most of the time were American Machine and Foundry, Phillips Petroleum, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Deere, American Telephone, Southern Railway, Anaconda and General Electric.

Occasional losers were Santa Fe, Great Northern Railway, Kennecott, International Nickel, U. S. Gypsum, Owens-Illinois, Woolworth, U. S. Rubber, Associated Dry Goods (on a drop in net), Boeing and American Smelting.

ONE BIDDER SEEKS SEWER WORK HERE

Continental Co. Submits Offers on Two Projects.

Only one bidder submitted offers for two city sewer improvement projects in Patterson and Patten streets, city officials reported.

The contract will be awarded on the bids of the Continental Construction Co., firm now engaged in constructing the Clinton street trunk line sewer.

The bid on the Patten street sewer was $6,420.40, slightly below the estimated cost of $6,456.50.

The Patterson street bid was $11,680.50, somewhat above the engineer's estimate of $10,891.50. Officials said however, they would proceed with awarding both contracts.

In the case of the Patterson street work they said they felt certain cuts could be made in other costs in this project with the result the actual assessments against property owners, if increased at all, would be only slightly above the original figure. Officials also added it would be less expensive to proceed with the work now than to readvertise the work and call for new bids at a later date.

The work will include installation of a sanitary sewer on Patten street from Greenwood street to the first alley west of Patterson street and a sanitary sewer on Patterson street from East Mark to Patten streets with an outlet section from Greenwood to Patterson streets.

ALL-STAR BOWLERS REELECT OFFICIALS

League Approves Last Year's Slate of Officers.

Officers of the All-Star bowling league, which will roll a 33-week schedule at the Marion Recreation Center this season, were reelected at a meeting in the county treasurer's office last night.

The slate of officers, the same as last year's, is Marion Hinklin, president; Robert Shoemaker, vice president, and Robert Wells, secretary.

The league will hold its first meeting Tuesday, Sept. 9 at 7 p. m. and continue a schedule of Tuesday night bowling.

Seven of the eight teams in the league have obtained sponsors and the other expects to before activity starts.

Teams and their captains are Marion Auto Finance, Robert Shoemaker; Fahey Bank, L. E. Oberlander; Schaffner - Denzer, Lloyd Pickering; Lords Jewelry, Frank E. Putman; Jim Dugan's, Walter Axthelm; Elks, Gene Gunder; and Bowes Ice Cream, Arthur Cheney. Harry Pfieffer is captain of the unsponsored entry.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION

By International News Service

CINCINNATI—There are now more cars on the road than there were at the 1941 peak and they are contributing to the biggest traffic jams in history. The American Society of Planning Officials, commenting on plans by major cities to ease traffic congestion, reports that almost 2.6 million cars and trucks have been produced this year while considerably fewer old ones have been junked.

Programs on the Air

Commentator Drew Pearson will return to the air on Sunday, Sept. 7, at 6 p. m. over the ABC network.

Barbara Jo Allen, best known to her radio and motion picture fans as the man-crazy Vera Vague, will tell how she created the hilariously romantic character in an interview with Hollywood commentator Louella Parsons Sunday at 9:15 p. m. over ABC.

Walter Winchell will be heard again on Sunday at 9 p. m. when he returns to the air for its 15th season with ABC.

All times given are Eastern Standard Time. Erroneous listings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and networks.

RAILROAD CHIEFTAIN SEES COAL SHORTAGE

By The United Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—William T. Faricy, president of the American Association of Railroads, said today that the nation faces a possible coal shortage next winter, despite the fact that railroads are carrying more coal with fewer cars than ever before.

Faricy said huge coal exports to Europe and other sections of the world were largely responsible for the car shortage, but that the railroads realized the necessity for maintaining a high rate of export at this time.

He said the railroads faced a shortage of nearly every type of car but that the coal car situation was the most critical.

"The petroleum tank car situation is a little easier," he said, "It might be that fears on petroleum have been a little exaggerated. At any rate, we are not having the number of complaints about tank cars as box or coal cars."

He said despite farmers' complaints that grain had been piling up at midwestern shipping points, the railroads had moved "a great deal" more grain this year than ever before in history—and with fewer cars.

"The fact that grain has been left on the ground doesn't mean it is rotting," he said. "That's been a common incident for many years."

The coal situation will become tighter until more cars are made available, Faricy said. He said the present rate of delivery on 38,000 cars which have been ordered is "extremely unsatisfactory."

Only 5,800 coal-carrying cars were delivered last month, he said, while 4,000 old ones were junked. The railroads need a total of 10,000 a month in order to attain the desired shipping quota, he said.

Class Elects Officers At Community House

An election of officers for the Builders class of First Evangelical United Brethren church was held at a meeting Tuesday night in the community house.

Officer elected were: W. D. Scranton, president; Mrs. S. A. Shupp, assistant chorister; Mrs. Charles Williams, pianist; Mrs. Walter Scranton, assistant pianist; Dewey Bolander, librarian; Paul Clements, assistant librarian; Mrs. Paul Clements, teacher; Mrs. Wayne Frost, assistant teacher.

In charge of the entertainment were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Frost and Mrs. Shirley Howard.

RESTAURANT GRADINGS

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—In a drastic move to make restaurants clean up or shut up, St. Louis recently started enforcing a sanitation ordinance under which eating places are publicly graded "A," "B," or "C." The International City Managers' Association reports that St. Louis is the largest city in which the grading method of boosting sanitation standards has been tried. Numerous small cities use the grading system.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

MARY'S eyes were filled with the generous enthusiasm which is always hers when she has an opportunity to do anyone a favor.

Olina had played a harp in two of the scenes of my play in which Mary had achieved stardom, and had received good notices from the critics, although of course nothing equaling the plaudits which had been Mary's portion.

I was a bit dismayed at her dictum, however, because, for the moment, I did not see where a scene with a harpist even as brilliant as Olina could fit into my scheme. But I knew that Mary is "She-who-must-be-obeyed," and I smiled brightly at both girls.

"I already have planned such a scene," I told them, and stifled my conscience with the assurance that the fiction was in a good cause.

But Olina looked at me with dismayed eyes.

"Oh, but Auntie Madge, you mustn't do that!" she cried. "I'm so sorry I didn't explain things to you before, but I thought everything was in abeyance, waiting for Mary to come home. I couldn't possibly appear in the play."

A Belligerent Air

Mary leaned forward in her chair with a belligerent air.

"Will you tell me what in the hinges of the hot place you mean by that nonsense?" she asked. "What are you doing that's so all-absorbing you can't play a harp for an hour each night? You did it a year ago. Why not now?"

Olina lifted her head and looked at her. It was a gallant look with just a suggestion of a challenge in it.

"I knew where Georges was a year ago," she said steadily. "I don't know now; don't know whether or not he's alive. But, when I hear from him, I must be ready to go to him if he needs me. I cannot be tied down to anything."

Into Mary's eyes came something almost like pity. I could guess what she was thinking; that the way to hold Georges, the royal playboy who had professed to be in love with both Olina and Mary, was not to wait his pleasure like Patient Griselda, but to make herself as glamorous and unattainable as possible.

"What utter nonsense, Olina!" she said. "You know Georges wouldn't want you to pass up such an opportunity as you had a year ago. You had made a name for yourself. You surely aren't going to throw that away."

"What does anything matter?" Olina returned steadily, "except Georges?"

Mary was silent for a second, and I wondered if both girls were thinking of the long romantic story of Georges and his pursuit of both of them which lay buried in their past. And now, he, himself, in all probability, was buried somewhere in Europe.

An Understudy

"Look here, Olina," she said at last. "Did you never hear of such a thing as an understudy?"

Olina started at the question.

"What—what do you mean?" she faltered.

"Simply this," Mary said. "You find some bang-up harpist and get her to understudy your part. Then you go on in the play, and if you do hear from Georges, and he needs you, the understudy and the play can go on, and you can go to your own true love."

Olga looked at Mary with bright, loving eyes.

"Thank you, my darling daughter," she said. "It is not good for Olina to sit and brood as she does. Isn't this a wonderful solution, Olina?"

But Olina was still stubobrn.

"I do not think so," she said. "I can put my mind on nothing except Georges. I should break down completely if I appeared in the play."

Grand Prairie School Set To Open Sept. 2

Grand Prairie school will open Tuesday, Sept. 2, with a halfday session, Harvey Brucker, superintendent, announced. The school teaching staff will include the following: Miss Beatrice McIntosh, first and second grades; Mrs. Harry Brewer, third and fourth; Mrs. Esther Hudnall, fifth and sixth; Miss Ruth Dreyer, history, music, and physical education; and Mr. Brucker, mathematics and physical education. Teacher for home economics is yet to be decided on, Mr. Brucker stated. Buses will pick up students at the same time as last year, he announced.

Senior Regent Reports On National Convention

Mrs. Mildred Pickeral, senior regent, gave a report on the national convention held in Columbus Aug. 19-22 at a meeting of the Women of the Moose Tuesday evening in the lodge hall. Reports were also given by Mrs. Maude Whitman and Mrs. Mabel Barr who obtained college of regent degrees at the convention.

Applications were received and accepted and members will be taken in at the Sept. 2 meeting. Members were requested to bring their donations for the Women of the Moose treasure chest by the Sept. 2nd meeting. Final plans were made for the ice cream social to be held Aug. 29 at St. Mary church. The next meeting will be formal chapter night.

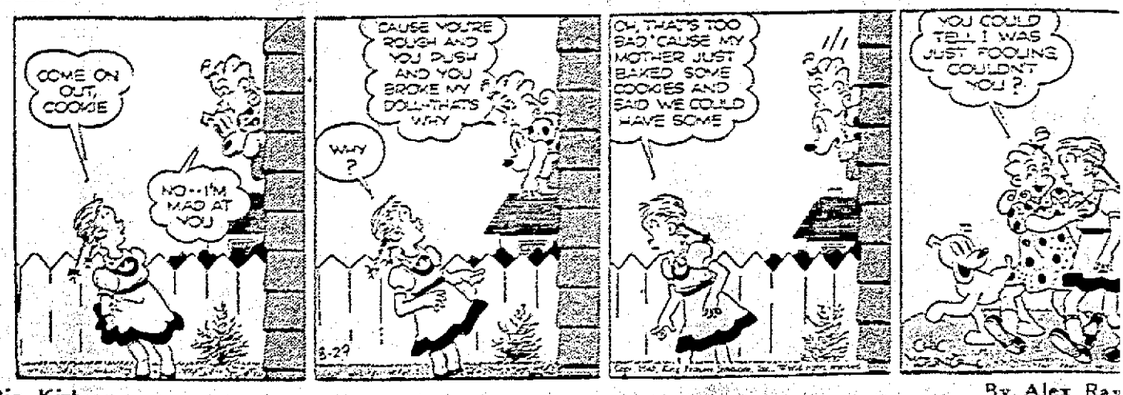
Blondie — By Chic



COME ON OUT, COOKIE
NO--I'M MAD AT YOU
WHY?
CAUSE YOU'RE ROUGH AND YOU PUSH AND YOU BROKE MY DOLL-THAT'S WHY
OH, THAT'S TOO BAD 'CAUSE MY MOTHER JUST BAKED SOME COOKIES AND SAID WE COULD HAVE SOME YOU COULD TELL I WAS JUST FOOLING, COULDN'T YOU?

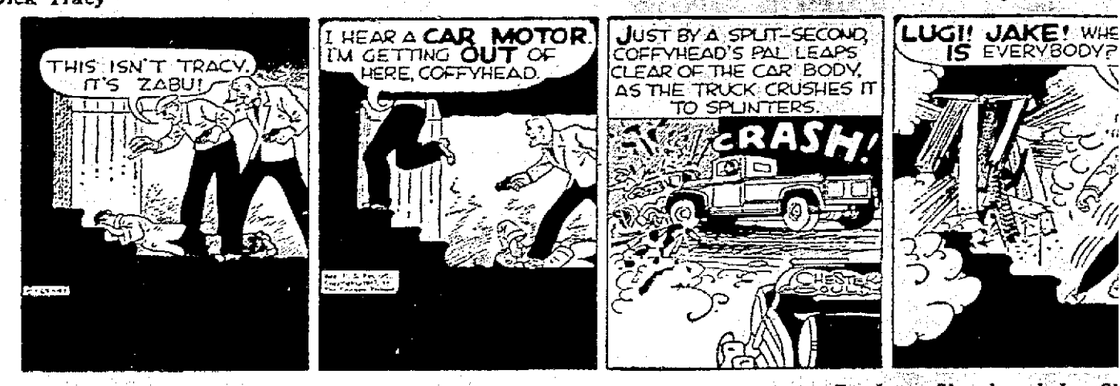
Rip Kirby — By Alex Ray

MR. KIRBY AND HIS LITTLE BLONDE ARE IMAGINING THINGS! STRAIGHTEN THEM OUT, STUBBY!
STAND WHERE YOU ARE!
OKAY...LET'S TAKE THIS PANTWAIST, BOYS!
HOLD ON! THERE'S ONE DEAD MAN ALREADY, DOWN ON THE BEACH! THIS GUY'S THE LAW! AND I'M THROWIN' IN WITH HIM!
I'M WITH HIM, TOO! YOU WAS A MARINE, WASN'T YOU, CAPTAIN? I FOUGHT WITH THE OL' SIXTH!
ME TOO!— ARMY...BU KNOW A M WHEN I S HIM!

Dick Tracy — By Chester

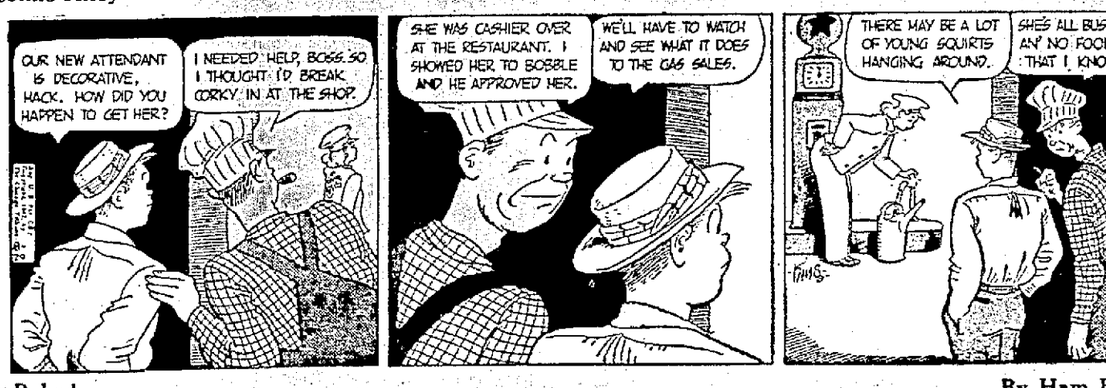


THIS ISN'T TRACY, IT'S ZABU!
I HEAR A CAR MOTOR. I'M GETTING OUT OF HERE, COFFYHEAD.
JUST BY A SPLIT-SECOND, COFFYHEAD'S PAL LEAPS CLEAR OF THE CAR BODY, AS THE TRUCK CRUSHES IT TO SPLINTERS.
CRASH!
LUG!! JAKE! WHE IS EVERYBODY?

Superman — By Jerry Siegel and Joe Sh

—AND THE LATEST REPORT IS THAT 98 YEAR OLD JOHN MERCHANT IS OFFERING HIS SIX MILLION DOLLAR FORTUNE FOR THE RETURN OF THE STOLEN YOUTH-SERUM!
JUST THINK— WITH ONE DROP A MAN CAN LIVE FOREVER!
AND IF THAT SERUM EVER GOT INTO CIRCULATION, EVERYBODY WOULD BE A SUPERMAN! SO WHO'S THE OBVIOUS SUSPECT? SUPERMAN! HE DIDN'T WANT ANY COMPETITION!
YOU SAID IT!

Gasoline Alley — By Frank



OUR NEW ATTENDANT IS DECORATIVE, HACK. HOW DID YOU HAPPEN TO GET HER?
I NEEDED HELP, BOSS. SO I THOUGHT I'D BREAK CORKY IN AT THE SHOP.
SHE WAS CASHIER OVER AT THE RESTAURANT. I SHOWED HER TO BOBBLE AND HE APPROVED HER.
WE'LL HAVE TO WATCH AND SEE WHAT IT DOES TO THE GAS SALES.
THERE MAY BE A LOT OF YOUNG SQUIRTS HANGING AROUND.
SHE'S ALL BUS AN' NO FOO THAT I KNO

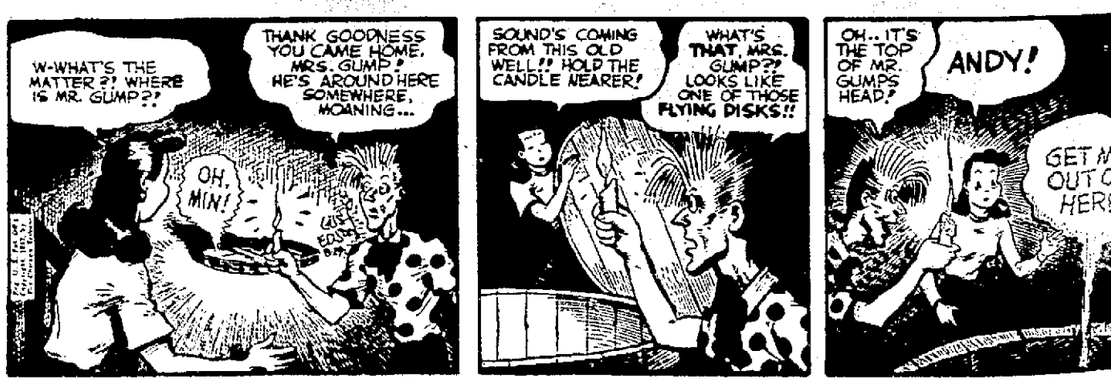
Joe Palooka — By Ham F

THERE YOU ARE.
OH, THANK YOU EVER SO MUCH. I NEVER COULD HAVE HANDLED THAT LUGGAGE MYSELF.
MISTER PALOOKA, I HOPE YOU'LL FORGIVE MY MENTIONING IT BUT I READ OF YOUR... OH... GREAT MISFORTUNE ... I'M TERRIBLY SORRY.
THANK YOU, MISS FOWLER... WELL, IT WAS NICE MEETING YOU.
WHERE WERE YA? I LOOKED FER YA IN TH' LOUNGE CAR AN' YA WASN'T THERE NEITHER.
I STEPPED OFF FOR A BREATH AS THE TRAIN STOPPED AT ALBA

Terry and the Pirates — By George Wi

HAVE YOU GONE MAD, YOURSELF, WOMAN, TO VIOLATE THE CUSTOMS OF ONE PEOPLE BY WEARING THE FINERY OF THE FOREIGN WOMAN?
ENOUGH, FOOL! SEE IF THE FAT ONE WATCHES.
HE'S ASLEEP!... SITTING ON THAT STONE PLATFORM WITH HIS GUN IN HIS HAND WAITING FOR THE POLICE TO FIND HIM... BRRR, IT BRINGS A CHILL UPON ONE.
GOOD! IT IS TIME WE WERE GONE.
BAH! WHO CAN UNDERSTAND WOMEN?

The Gumps — By Gus



W-WHAT'S THE MATTER?! WHERE IS MR. GUMP??
THANK GOODNESS YOU CAME HOME, MRS. GUMP! HE'S AROUND HERE SOMEWHERE, MOANING...
OH, MIN!
SOUND'S COMING FROM THIS OLD WELL!! HOLD THE CANDLE NEARER!
WHAT'S THAT, MRS. GUMP?? LOOKS LIKE ONE OF THOSE FLYING DISKS!!
OH.. IT'S THE TOP OF MR. GUMPS HEAD!
ANDY!
GET M OUT O HER
